1. PROJECT OBJECTIVE

The objective of the Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement (Summary of Engagement) is to assess present conditions, ongoing maintenance, and future options for the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road.

The segment of Wonder Stump Road referenced in this document includes all of the Wonder Stump Road property belonging to the County of Del Norte from the Younkers Creek Bridge to Highway 101.

2. ORIGIN OF THE PLANNING ACTIVITY

The primary goal of this process and resulting document is to be transparent in the need for maintenance activities to occur, discuss the potential future of the Wonder Stump Road corridor, and dispel rumors of plans for mass tree removal without public input. A pattern of mistrust and negative interactions between the Wonder Stump Road Community the County Road Division has persisted far too long and the intent of this document is to capture all perspectives.

3. TIMELINE OF COMMUNITY AND STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT

The Summary of Engagement timeline is presented below.

July 2019

- Project was posted on County website with a link included on the main County webpage. (<http://www.co.del-norte.ca.us/departments/community-development-department/engineering-division/community-input>)
- Project contact list commenced. Anyone desiring to be included was included.
- Comment cards were posted to the County website, handed out by County field staff, made available at the Community Development Department, and mailed to property owners using any portion of Wonder Stump Road to access their property.
- An online survey was created using the same content as the comment card and made available on the County website, County of Del Norte Facebook webpage, and shared amongst the general public.
- 1st Letter to the Community sent to residents who use any portion of Wonder Stump Road to access their property, sent to project contact list, and posted to County website.

August 2019

- Invitations to 1st Stakeholder meeting mailed.

September 2019

- Nothing to document.

November 2019

- 1st Stakeholder meeting held.
- Notice of 1st Community Meeting posted at each end of Wonder Stump Road, posted to County website, sent to residents using any portion of Wonder Stump Road to access their property, sent to project contact list, and sent to the list of agencies and businesses who receive notifications of road closures.

December 2019

- 1st Community meeting held.

January 2020 – March 2020

- Preliminary Draft of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement prepared.
- Anticipated 2nd Community and Stakeholder Engagement meeting which became unallowable due to COVID-19 pandemic.

April 2020

- Preliminary Draft of Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement finalized.

May 2020

- 2nd Letter to the Community sent to contact list releasing Preliminary Draft of Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement. With comments due the same month.

June 2020

- Draft Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement submitted to Board of Supervisors for acceptance.

4. COMMUNITY AND STAKEHOLDER INPUT

Staff intended to initiate the Wonder Stump Community and Stakeholder Engagement process using the typical practice of gathering data before reaching out to the public. However, the public desired to be included at the initiation of fact finding. This made communication difficult for both County staff and the public since there were many unknowns and few answers to assist with responding to questions prior to the 1st Stakeholder Meeting held November 13, 2019. Regardless, public comment was accepted throughout the entire process, beginning in July 2019 and terminating in May 2020.

Input received during the 1st Stakeholder Meeting and 1st Community Meeting is contained in those sections of this document.

5. CONCEPTUAL ALTERNATIVES

Seven conceptual alternatives were identified for consideration by County staff. Additional alternatives would have been added during the planning process if they had been identified and there was a general consensus that they should be included. However, none were suggested. A description of each conceptual alternative is below and an analysis of each is included in Section 12 of this document.

- Alternative 1 – No Improvements (Existing Conditions)

The existing Wonder Stump Road corridor from the Younkers Creek Bridge to Highway 101 is a less than two-lane roadway with three islands which allow passing of two-way traffic. The islands include a northbound and southbound lane separated by a vegetated median that allows vehicles to queue if oncoming traffic is observed in the less than two-lane portion of the roadway. The road width averages 18 feet and narrows to 13.5 feet. Trees along the roadway have grown reducing the capacity of existing ditches.

- Alternative 2 – Urban and Rural Public Road Standards (24 Foot Paved Surface with 4 Foot Shoulders)

Urban and Rural Public Road Standards included in the Del Norte County Code desire for the ultimate roadway width to be at least 24 feet wide with 4 foot shoulders and a right-of-way width of at least 60 feet. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

- Alternative 3 – One-Way Northbound

A one-way road northbound would eliminate two-way traffic on a less than two-lane roadway. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

- Alternative 4 – One-Way Southbound

A one-way road southbound would eliminate two-way traffic on a less than two-lane roadway. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

- Alternative 5 – Drainage Improvements with Paved Surface

Convert open ditches to underground storm drains, pave surface of the underground storm drains and roadway resulting in a wider roadway and reduced maintenance needs for the drainage facility. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

- Alternative 6 – SRA Fire Safe Regulations (22 Foot Paved Surface with No Shoulders)

Widen roadway to meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations which requires at least two 10 foot travel lanes, not including shoulder and striping. The additional 2 feet of paving is to accommodate striping. No shoulder improvements would be proposed as part of this alternative. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

- Alternative 7 – 24 Foot Paved Surface with No Shoulders

Widen paved surface to 24 foot wide paved surface meeting Urban and Rural Public Road Standards for road width. No shoulder improvements would be proposed as part of this alternative. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

6. CONTENT FOR 1ST STAKEHOLDER MEETING AND 1ST COMMUNITY MEETING

The content prepared for the 1st Stakeholder Meeting and 1st Community Meeting was the same with the exception of the 1st Community Meeting Handout. Seven conceptual alternatives were presented along with eight planimetry (a.k.a. aerial view or plan view) boards. The planimetry boards depict the project corridor in plan view and identify existing culverts, ditches, edges of paving and paving width, trees, and other features. Several of the trees were observed with scuffs or gouges assumed to be from collisions or with roots pushing up the roadway. Any trees numbered on the planimetry were photographed and there is at least one photograph of the corresponding tree included in the project record.

7. 1ST STAKEHOLDER MEETING

The 1st Stakeholder Meeting was held on November 13, 2019 at the County Road Yard (500 East Cooper Avenue, Crescent City, CA). The following stakeholders, primarily public agencies and utilities, were invited:

- Cal Fire (did not attend)
- California Highway Patrol (attended)
- Caltrans (did not attend)
- City of Crescent City (attended)
- County of Del Norte, Roads Division (attended)
- County Supervisor for District 3 (attended)
- County Supervisors for District 4 (attended)
- Crescent Fire Protection District (did not attend)
- Del Norte Ambulance (attended)
- Del Norte County Sheriff's Office (did not attend)
- Del Norte County Unified School District (attended)
- Del Norte Local Transportation Commission (did not attend)
- Fort Dick Fire Protection District (attended)
- Frontier Communications (did not attend)
- Pacific Power (attended)
- Recology (did not attend)
- Spectrum (did not attend)

The general discussion included:

- Emergency services respond to medical calls and often find it difficult for the ambulance to be the first to leave, commonly other emergency services vehicles must leave to open the roadway for the ambulance. This results in loss of critical time.
- Emergency services respond to fires with insufficient onsite or nearby water to fight fires. Water tenders must make laps and other emergency response vehicles become hazards that decrease efficiency if they create an obstruction within the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road.

- The school bus drops students at the islands on the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road so that if the bus breaks down the road is not blocked. According to the Del Norte County Unified School District's Director of Transportation, the decision to pickup and drop-off at the islands was made years ago at the request of emergency services. Stopping at islands results in students choosing to walk in the ditch of the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road. It is assumed that students perceive walking in the ditch to be safer than walking on the roadway.
- The group did not recall any collisions within the past five years.
- The Roads Division stated that drainage improvements are needed to mitigate the natural encroachment of trees into the existing ditches. Tree growth has narrowed the ditches resulting in mechanized equipment no longer being able to efficiently clean the ditches. Redwood boughs and branches frequently plug culverts along the roadway. It is unsafe for maintenance crews to climb into a flooded ditch to unplug a culvert.
- Fort Dick Fire Protection District responds to Wonder Stump Road from both the northbound and southbound directions since resources commonly deploy from both the Lake Earl Fire Station and Kings Valley Fire Station for the same event. A one-way road is not desirable.

Ultimately, four sticky notes were affixed to the poster boards by the Stakeholder Group.

8. 1ST COMMUNITY MEETING

The 1st Community Meeting was held on December 12, 2019 at the Crescent Fire Protection District Office (255 West Washington Boulevard, Crescent City, CA). Anyone interested in the project was invited to attend and about 50 people attended.

The meeting was intended to be a brief 5-10 minute presentation describing and clarifying the extent of the project followed by public comments being written on sticky notes and placed on poster boards or submitted on comment cards.

Instead, the meeting turned into a 1 hour open discussion amongst County staff and community members with the final 30 minutes dedicated to submitting written input. Community members were reminded that the open discussion was not being documented and that all input needed to be submitted in writing. The meeting went very well; everyone conducted themselves in a civil manner considering the passion filling the room.

There were two items specific to the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement process that were brought up during the open discussion. The first was a request for more fact finding, and the second, was a request for the 2nd Stakeholder Meeting to be combined with the 2nd Community Meeting. County staff directed community members to leave written questions behind and that answers would be sought. Additionally, County staff agreed to try to combine the 2nd Stakeholder and Community Meetings.

9. CIRCULATE PRELIMINARY DRAFT (ALTERNATIVE TO 2ND STAKEHOLDER AND COMMUNITY MEETING)

The County intended to hold a second community meeting in February or March 2020. However, this was not possible due to the COVID-19 pandemic. On March 4, 2020 the Governor of the State of California, Gavin Newsom, issued a Proclamation of a State of Emergency with respect to COVID-19 documenting the commencement of a response by California dating back to December 2019. And, on March 12, 2020 the President of the United States of America, Donald J. Trump, issued Emergency Declaration EM-3428 for COVID-19 with an incident period beginning January 20, 2020. Due to social distancing guidelines and stay at home orders a 2nd Stakeholder and Community Meeting was not held.

As an alternative to the 2nd Stakeholder and Community Meeting, previously used and additionally collected contact information was used to inform the community that the Preliminary Draft of the Summary of Community and Stakeholder Engagement had been posted to the project webpage for review and comment. Comments were due by May 22, 2020 for inclusion in the document being submitted to the Board for acceptance in June 2020.

10. COLLISION DATA (01/01/2014 – 04/08/2020)

Following the 1st Stakeholder meeting and 1st Community meeting collision data was collected from the Transportation Injury Mapping System (TIMS) at UC Berkeley. Data was available through December 31, 2018. Between January 1, 2014 and December 31, 2018, a five year period, two collisions were documented on Wonder Stump Road between Younkers Creek and Highway 101.

Date and Time:	04/02/2014 07:50 AM
Location:	Wonder Stump Road and Star Trek Drive
Intersection Collision:	No
Distance and Direction from Intersection:	406 feet north
Collision Severity:	Injury (Complaint of Pain)
Type of Collision:	Hit Object
Involved With:	Fixed Object: Tree
Pedestrian Involved:	No
Bicycle Involved:	No

Date and Time:	12/22/2014 08:30 AM
Location:	Wonder Stump Road and Coulson Lane
Intersection Collision:	No
Distance and Direction from Intersection:	62 feet south
Collision Severity:	Injury (Other Visible)
Type of Collision:	Hit Object
Involved With:	Fixed Object: Tree
Pedestrian Involved:	No
Bicycle Involved:	No

No data beyond December 31, 2018 is available in the Transportation Injury Mapping System. The County receives Collision Reports from the California Highway Patrol; more recent data includes two additional Traffic Collision Reports and a known traffic collision that did not include a Traffic Collision Report.

Date and Time:	02/08/2020 11:43 AM
Location:	Wonder Stump Road and Orchard Lane
Intersection Collision:	Yes
Distance and Direction from Intersection:	No
Collision Severity:	Injury (Suspected Serious)

Type of Collision:	Broadside
Involved With:	Other Motor Vehicle
Pedestrian Involved:	No
Bicycle Involved:	No

Date and Time:	02/16/2020 1:55 PM
Location:	Wonder Stump Road and Ecnav Lane
Intersection Collision:	No
Distance and Direction from Intersection:	189 feet south
Collision Severity:	Injury (Suspected Minor)
Type of Collision:	Hit Object
Involved With:	Fixed Object: Tree
Pedestrian Involved:	No
Bicycle Involved:	No

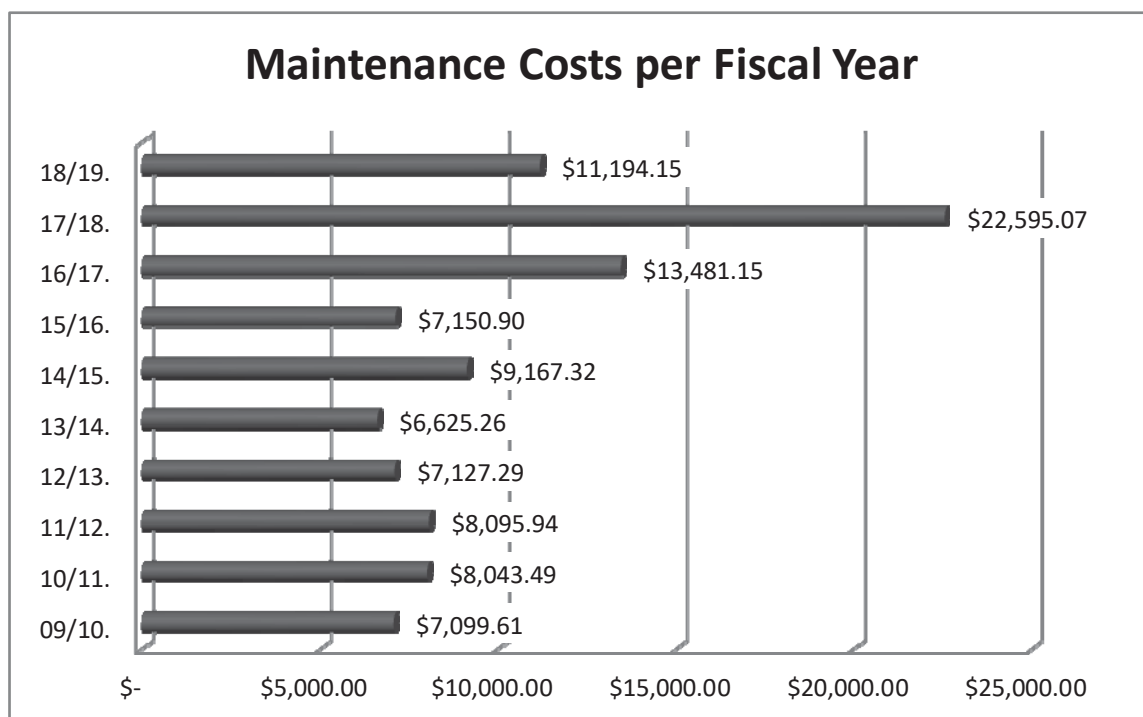

Date and Time:	04/08/2020 1:30 PM
Location:	Wonder Stump Road
Intersection Collision:	Assumed no
Distance and Direction from Intersection:	Near Younkers Creek Bridge, precise location unknown
Collision Severity:	Assumed property damage only
Type of Collision:	Unknown
Involved With:	Unknown
Pedestrian Involved:	No
Bicycle Involved:	No

The collision on 04/08/2020 is included in this report because it was included in the Preliminary Draft with a placeholder for future data. The Community Development Department reached out to the California Highway Patrol (CHP) and they did not have a record of the collision. The Community Development Department then reached out to the Sheriff's Department and confirmed that CHP does all Traffic Collision Reports within the unincorporated County. Upon further inquiry to the Sheriff's Department the collision was found in their online Call Log and had the Community Development Department not been aware of it, it would not have been found for inclusion in this record. It is an example of why it is not uncommon to be missing data when someone can recall an event. As best we can assume the collision was a property damage only collision, the Sheriff's Department shared that an ambulance was called but the occupants of the single-vehicle collision refused medical assistance and no law enforcement responded to the collision.

The four collisions with Traffic Collision Reports indicate that all four collisions occurred during daylight, no unusual roadway conditions existed, cell phones were not in use, and drivers were sober.

11. MAINTENANCE COSTS

One of the requests from the 1st Community Meeting was a summary of maintenance costs. Below are the maintenance costs to the Road Fund over the past ten years. They do not include labor contributions from the Northern California Indian Development Council, Inc. or Siskiyou Training and Employment Program, Inc. both of which have provided significant amounts of no cost labor to the Road Fund. The County has not tracked the hours or financial benefit provided by the aforementioned crews. Additionally, the County's time tracked for Wonder Stump Road reflects Wonder Stump Road from Elk Valley Cross Road to Highway 101. However, the majority of maintenance occurs along Wonder Stump Road from the Younkens Creek Bridge to Highway 101.

12. ANALYSIS OF CONCEPTUAL ALTERNATIVES

- Alternative 1 – No Improvements (Existing Conditions)

The existing Wonder Stump Road corridor from the Younkens Creek Bridge to Highway 101 is a less than two-lane roadway with three islands which allow passing of two-way traffic. The islands include a northbound and southbound lane separated by a vegetated median that allows vehicles to queue if oncoming traffic is observed in the less than two-lane portion of the roadway. The road width averages 18 feet and narrows to 13.5 feet. Trees along the roadway have grown reducing the capacity of existing ditches.

COLLISIONS
Collision types and rates would be unchanged.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
- Most favorable to the majority of commenters. - Wonder Stump Road's scenic value including contributions to local tourism would be unaffected.
DRAINAGE
- Drainage problems would increase as existing drainage infrastructure loses further capacity to trees and tree roots. Leaf litter and branches from the tree canopy would continue to obstruct open ditches. - Impacts resulting from loss of drainage capacity along Wonder Stump Road may include ponding water and failure of leach fields on private property.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
- Implementation would consume no effort and expense relative to other alternatives. - Maintenance would consume the most effort and expense. - Maintenance effort would increase as mechanized equipment became inoperable within the ditches and would be replaced with manual labor. - Manual labor commonly results in more workers' compensation claims than labor with mechanized equipment.
ROAD STANDARDS
- Wonder Stump Road would not meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. - Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. - Emergency response would continue to be hindered by a less than two lane road serving two-way traffic.
SPEED
- Speeds would remain the same. - Residents feel existing conditions provide a traffic calming effect. - Existing traffic speeds are acceptable to neighborhood.
TREES
No impacts to trees, roots, or canopies.

- Alternative 2 – Urban and Rural Public Road Standards (24 Foot Paved Surface with 4 Foot Shoulders)

Urban and Rural Public Road Standards included in the Del Norte County Code desire for the ultimate roadway width to be at least 24 feet wide with 4 foot shoulders and a right-of-way width of at least 60 feet. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

ANALYSIS OF ALTERNATIVE 2
COLLISIONS
Collision types and rates would decrease as lane width and clear recovery zone increased.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
- Unacceptable impacts to trees including roots and canopy. - Undesirable increase in vehicle speeds anticipated.
DRAINAGE
- Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. - Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. - Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
- Implementation would consume the greatest effort and expense relative to other alternatives. - Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.
ROAD STANDARDS
- Wonder Stump Road would exceed State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. - Wonder Stump Road would meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. - Emergency response would improve with a two lane road serving two-way traffic.
SPEED
- Speeds would increase as road width increased. - This alternative would result in the greatest speed increase because it would result in the widest road surface.
TREES

- Greatest volume of tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies.
- Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

• Alternative 3 – One-Way Northbound

A one-way road northbound would eliminate two-way traffic on a less than two-lane roadway. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

COLLISIONS
• Collision types and rates would decrease as continuously available lane width was established. • Unreported collisions resulting in scuffs and gouges of trees would decrease as the need to pass two-way traffic on a less than two lane road is eliminated. • Head on collisions may increase as a result of wrong way drivers. • Improvements at Highway 101, such as acceleration or merge lanes, may be needed to accommodate additional traffic at this intersection.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
• Unacceptable to hinder emergency response further. • Inconvenient to road users. • Undesirable increase in vehicle speeds anticipated.
DRAINAGE
• Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. • Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. • Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
• Implementation would consume minor effort and expense relative to other alternatives. • Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.

ROAD STANDARDS
• Wonder Stump Road would not meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. • Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. • Fort Dick Fire Protection District jurisdiction includes this section of Wonder Stump Road and they responds from both their Lake Earl Drive Fire Station and Kings Valley Road Fire Station. A one way road would hinder their emergency response. Likely Del Norte Ambulance would have similar concerns. • Potential enforcement headache resulting from habitual wrong way drivers.
SPEED
• Speed would likely increase as two-way traffic is eliminated. • Through traffic may increase resulting in increased speeds.
TREES
• Minor to moderate tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies. • Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

- Alternative 4 – One-Way Southbound

A one-way road southbound would eliminate two-way traffic on a less than two-lane roadway. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

ANALYSIS OF ALTERNATIVE 4
COLLISIONS
• Collision types and rates would decrease as continuously available lane width was established. • Unreported collisions resulting in scuffs and gouges of trees would decrease as the need to pass two-way traffic on a less than two lane road is eliminated. • Head on collisions may increase as a result of wrong way drivers. • Improvements at Highway 101, such as turn pockets, may be needed to accommodate additional traffic at this intersection.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
• Unacceptable to hinder emergency response further. • Inconvenient to road users. • Undesirable increase in vehicle speeds anticipated.
DRAINAGE
• Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. - Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. - Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.

EFFORT AND EXPENSE
- Implementation would consume minor effort and expense relative to other alternatives. - Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.
ROAD STANDARDS
- Wonder Stump Road would not meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. - Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. - Fort Dick Fire Protection District jurisdiction includes this section of Wonder Stump Road and they responds from both their Lake Earl Drive Fire Station and Kings Valley Road Fire Station. A one way road would hinder their emergency response. Likely Del Norte Ambulance would have similar concerns. - Potential enforcement headache resulting in decrease safety along corridor.
SPEED
- Speed would likely increase as two-way traffic is eliminated. - Through traffic may increase resulting in increased speeds.
TREES
- Minor to moderate tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies. - Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

- Alternative 5 – Drainage Improvements with Paved Surface

Convert open ditches to underground storm drains, pave surface of the underground storms drains and roadway resulting in a wider roadway and reduced maintenance needs for the drainage facility. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

ANALYSIS OF ALTERNATIVE 5
COLLISIONS
• Collision types and rates would decrease as lane width and clear recovery zone increased. • Unreported collisions resulting in scuffs and gouges of trees would decrease.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
• Most palatable two-way road improvement. • Minimize impacts to trees including roots and canopy. • Undesirable increase in vehicle speed anticipated.
DRAINAGE
• Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. • Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. • Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
• Implementation would consume moderate effort and expense relative other alternatives. • Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.
ROAD STANDARDS
• Wonder Stump Road would not meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. • Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. • Emergency response would continue to be hindered by a less than two lane road serving two-way traffic. This alternative would still result in a betterment benefitting emergency response.
SPEED
• Speeds would increase as road width increased.
TREES
• Moderate tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies. • Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

- Alternative 6 – SRA Fire Safe Regulations (22 Foot Paved Surface with No Shoulders)

Widen roadway to meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations which requires at least two 10 foot travel lanes, not including shoulder and striping. The additional 2 feet of paving is to accommodate striping. No shoulder improvements would be proposed as part of this alternative. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

ANALYSIS OF ALTERNATIVE 6
COLLISIONS
• Collision types and rates would decrease as lane width and clear recovery zone increased. • Unreported collisions resulting in scuffs and gouges of trees would decrease.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
• Unacceptable impacts to trees including roots and canopy. • Undesirable increase in vehicle speed anticipated.
DRAINAGE
• Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. • Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. • Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
• Implementation would consume substantial effort and expense relative to other alternatives. • Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.
ROAD STANDARDS
• Wonder Stump Road would meet State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. • Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. • Emergency response would improve with a two lane road serving two-way traffic.

SPEED
• Speeds would increase as road width increased.
TREES
• Substantial tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies. • Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

- Alternative 7 – 24 Foot Paved Surface with No Shoulders

Widen paved surface to 24 foot wide paved surface meeting Urban and Rural Public Road Standards for road width. No shoulder improvements would be proposed as part of this alternative. Drainage improvements would be designed to carry runoff from a ten-year storm.

ANALYSIS OF ALTERNATIVE 7
COLLISIONS
• Collision types and rates would decrease as lane width and clear recovery zone increased. • Unreported collisions resulting in scuffs and gouges of trees would decrease.
COMMUNITY RESPONSE
• Unacceptable impacts to trees including roots and canopy. • Undesirable increase in vehicle speed anticipated.
DRAINAGE
• Drainage improvements could be either underground storm drains or open ditches, both would meet County Code. However, open ditches would widen the roadway cross section wider than underground storm drains resulting in greater impacts to trees and require greater maintenance effort to remove leaf litter and branches. • Underground storm drains are preferable since the road surface could be placed upon the underground storm drain which would result in fewer impacts to trees and allow for the removal of leaf litter and branches on the road surface rather than in an open ditch resulting in less maintenance effort. • Impacts to private properties including ponding water and failure of leach fields would be avoided.
EFFORT AND EXPENSE
• Implementation would consume substantial effort and expense relative to other alternatives. • Maintenance effort and expense would decrease substantially. Undergrounding open ditches is anticipated to reduce debris removal maintenance effort by 50%.
ROAD STANDARDS

• Wonder Stump Road would exceed State Responsibility Area (SRA) Fire Safe Regulations. • Wonder Stump Road would not meet Urban and Rural Public Road Standards. • Emergency response would improve with a two lane road serving two-way traffic.
SPEED
• Speed would increase as road width increased.
TREES
• Substantial tree removal and impacts to tree roots and canopies. • Underground drainage in lieu of open ditches to reduce impacts to trees.

13. WONDER STUMP ROAD PROPERTY

The Wonder Stump Road property was purchased in fee by the County of Del Norte in 1996 from Rellim Redwood Co. using Road Funds and was recorded by the Del Norte County Recorder on July 1, 1996 in Book 459, Page 628-636. Purchasing the Wonder Stump Road property eliminated the need for the County to continue to lease a narrow strip of land over which County maintained Wonder Stump Road existed.

14. FUNDING THE PLANNING ACTIVITY

The Summary of Engagement was funded with Rural Planning Assistance (RPA) funds allocated to the County of Del Norte by the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission through the 2019-2020 Overall Work Program; additional RPA funds were requested and allocated during the 2019-2020 fiscal year after a higher than anticipated volume of public input was received.

The Summary of Engagement was undertaken with no funding identified or anticipated for environmental studies, right-of-way acquisition, design, or construction of a project.

- o Appendix 25 – Resolution 2019-15 Del Norte Local Transportation Commission Resolution Approving Amendment #1 of the 2019-20 Overall Work Program

15. REASONABLE EXPECTATIONS

The Summary of Engagement gathered input into potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from the Younkers Creek Bridge to US Highway 101. The planning activity did not result in any promises or absolutes. Any future projects along Wonder Stump Road, meeting the definition of a “project” under Public Resources Code §21065, will comply with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) which may include a process with a public comment period. The Road Division of the County will continue to maintain Wonder Stump Road. Maintenance has and will continue to require the periodic removal of trees and impacts to tree roots and canopies.

16. ACCEPTANCE OF SUMMARY OF ENGAGEMENT

The Summary of Engagement was submitted to the Board of Supervisors for acceptance at their June 9, 2020 meeting. The recommendation of staff was “Accept the Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement as complete and direct staff to maintain the status quo.”

Community Input

Del Norte Local Transportation Commission:

Commonplace is a community input tool belonging to the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission that compiles and organizes comments regarding regional transportation facilities.

Elk Valley Cross Road Corridor Plan:

The Elk Valley Cross Road Corridor Plan is a collaborative effort between the County of Del Norte and the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission. The project website is on the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission's website. Public input is being sought via Commonplace.

Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement:

The County of Del Norte is preparing a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from Yonkers Bridge to US Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road). Wonder Stump Road is a major collector that has historically received substantial public input when the slightest hint of a potential modification to the tree canopy or roots have occurred. County maintenance crews are unable to continue using mechanized equipment to maintain existing ditches as a result of cumulative tree and root growth. It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone. Traffic, including emergency services and school buses, continues to be subjected to an oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic. Trees along the paved surface and on the shoulders have scars from being hit. In an effort to obtain stakeholder and community input, stakeholder and community meetings will be held and input is being sought via Commonplace, comment cards, and online surveys. Ultimately, a summary of engagement will compile community and stakeholder feedback to assist with the development and implementation of potential improvements.

If you have questions or would like to receive notifications of community meetings please send an email to wonderstumproad@dnco.org or call Jeff Daniels, Roads Superintendent, at 707-464-7238. If you would like to provide input please use Commonplace, the online survey, or mail a comment card to the Community Development Department at 981 H Street, Suite 110; Crescent City, CA 95531.

Comment Card

Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

The County of Del Norte is preparing a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from Yonkers Bridge to US Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road). Wonder Stump Road is a major collector that has historically received substantial public input when the slightest hint of a potential modification to the tree canopy or roots have occurred. County maintenance crews are unable to continue using mechanized equipment to maintain existing ditches as a result of cumulative tree and root growth. It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone. Traffic, including emergency services and school buses, continues to be subjected to an oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic. Trees along the paved surface and on the shoulders have scars from being hit. In an effort to obtain stakeholder and community input, stakeholder and community meetings will be held and input is being sought via Commonplace and comment cards. Ultimately, a summary of engagement will compile community and stakeholder feedback to assist with the development and implementation of potential improvements.

If you have questions or would like to receive notifications of community meetings please send an email to wonderstumproad@dnco.org or call Jeff Daniels, Roads Superintendent, at 707-464-7238. Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

The County of Del Norte is preparing a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from Yonkers Bridge to US Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road). Wonder Stump Road is a major collector that has historically received substantial public input when the slightest hint of a potential modification to the tree canopy or roots have occurred. County maintenance crews are unable to continue using mechanized equipment to maintain existing ditches as a result of cumulative tree and root growth. It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone. Traffic, including emergency services and school buses, continues to be subjected to an oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic. Trees along the paved surface and on the shoulders have scars from being hit. In an effort to obtain stakeholder and community input, stakeholder and community meetings will be held and input is being sought via Commonplace, comment cards, and online surveys. Ultimately, a summary of engagement will compile community and stakeholder feedback to assist with the development and implementation of potential improvements.

Project: Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

Re: 1st Letter to the Community

Dear Community Member:

You may have heard that the County of Del Norte is working on a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from the Yonkers Bridge to Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road). Anyone is welcome to be a part of the group referred to as the Community. The stakeholder group is primarily public agencies and utilities. This project began July 1, 2019 and is anticipated to be complete by June 30, 2020. The ultimate goal is to thoroughly discuss community and stakeholder concerns and solutions and the pros and cons of potential improvements to the County's property better known as Wonder Stump Road. The final product of this project is a summary of community and stakeholder engagement.

Presently, the County is in the process of obtaining existing conditions including locating trees, paved surfaces, and ditches. A tentative project process is as follows:

- 1) Obtain Existing Conditions – Anticipated July/August 2019.
- 2) Develop Preliminary Conceptual Alternatives – Anticipated September/October 2019.
- 3) 1st Stakeholder Meeting – Develop Stakeholder generated list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Anticipated November/December 2019.
- 4) 1st Community Meeting – Develop Community generated list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Anticipated November/December 2019.
- 5) Update conceptual alternatives and/or add additional alternatives based on Community and Stakeholder concerns/solutions and pros/cons.
- 6) 2nd Stakeholder Meeting – Review Community and Stakeholder engagement to date. Receive final comments before Draft Summary of Engagement is prepared for release.
- 7) 2nd Community Meeting – Review Community and Stakeholder engagement to date. Receive final comments before Draft Summary of Engagement is prepared for release.

- 8) Draft Summary of Engagement – The Summary of Engagement will include feedback on conceptual alternatives including pros/cons and problem/solutions. All comments received on the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project will be included in the document. Release anticipated in April/May 2020.
- 9) Adopt Summary of Engagement – Anticipate Board of Supervisors adoption in May/June 2020.

Included on the comment card page attached to this letter is the project objective explaining why this project is being undertaken. To clarify, the planning funds used on this project do not allow for environmental studies, right-of-way acquisition, design, or construction of a project. This project is similar to the 2017 Elk Valley Road Multimodal Corridor Plan and the presently underway Elk Valley Cross Road Corridor Plan that includes the intersections at Highway 101 and Highway 199. However, for this project the primary focus is community and stakeholder engagement.

There are multiple ways to provide input. Included with this letter is a comment card that can be submitted or there is an online survey with the same content. Project information will be posted to the following website: <http://www.co.del-norte.ca.us/departments/community-development-department/engineering-division/community-input>. Please be aware that comments intended for the project record should be in writing or spoken into a recording device such as a microphone at a project meeting. If you must call, please call Jeff Daniels, Roads Superintendent, at 707-464-7238.

To be added to the project contact list check the box next to "Yes" for "Do you want to added to the project contact list?" on the comment card or online survey. Or, send an email with your name, phone, address, and email address to wonderstumproad@co.del-norte.ca.us requesting to be added to the project contact list.

It is our intention to be as transparent, accessible, and efficient as possible. Please let us know if you have constructive criticism on how to improve the public outreach experience.

Sincerely,

Heidi Kunstal
Director

Project: Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

Re: 1st Stakeholder Meeting

Dear Click here to enter text.:

The County of Del Norte is working on the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement project. We would like to invite you or a representative of your utility/agency to a Stakeholder meeting on Wednesday, November 13, 2019 from 1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. at the County Road Yard, 500 E. Cooper Ave., Crescent City, CA 95531. The Stakeholder group is primarily public agencies and utilities.

If your utility/agency has infrastructure within the project limits, please mail or email any mapping you have to me at: rbower@co.del-norte.ca.us or the address at the top of this page before the end of September. The project limits are on Wonder Stump Road from the Yonkers Bridge (41.825100,-124.151473) to Highway 101 (41.840005,-124.143901), a 75 foot wide swath. This will assist us with developing presentation materials for the Stakeholder meeting.

The goal of the Stakeholder meeting is to discuss and generate a list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Information gathered at the Stakeholder meeting will be incorporated into the 1st Community Meeting.

Sincerely,

Rosanna Bower
Assistant County Engineer

WS is NOT a major collector by any means. It is rare to pass more than 1 or 2 cars in its entire length, including the 2- lane portion. Take a virtual drive down the whole road on google earth and you will see only one truck pulled over while they were filming their street view. There is only one low lying home at the very north end of the one lane portion that complains of a flooding issue, Fix that and fix the flooding that occurs in the Vivienne Lane area at the other end in the 2- lane section. The ditches could be cleaned out by hand crews, it has	Yes OS086 been suggested to utilize low level inmates from the jail like they have been doing on the 101 in our area. Also, the wide ditches in the 2- lane section of WS are not being maintained, there are even trees growing in them. Are they too dangerous to maintain also? They should have no problem clearing those ditches with their heavy equipment, what is the reason for not doing it there? Wonder Stump is a much loved road by residents and tourists from all over the country and the world. Please don't destroy one of our beautiful local landmarks.

Linda Nelson (Submitted 5/4/20, 1:23 PM)	925-768-4494	Linda Nelson 400 Bear Hollow Road Crescent City, CA 95531	lindamermaid@gmail.com	I hear there are 200 trees to be cut down. That's a lot of timber, being cut down in a very small area. It would essentially destroy Wonder stump road. Who will pay for this? What will happen to the timber afterwards? Who's making the money off of this? I live on wonder stump, and I'm wondering why you would want to do this when everybody on this street does NOT want you to do it. The obvious solution to it being too narrow for two-way traffic would be to make it a one way road. Then there wouldn't be any issues. As for the difficulty of cleaning up, I don't believe that's an issue just because you can't get your big equipment in there. It only means you need to use your smaller equipment. I live just off of wonder stump. I don't know anyone else on wonder stump who wants these trees cut down. Why would you insist on doing something that is so unpopular with the people concerned, when they clearly don't want it done? that tells me there's money to be made somewhere and it doesn't matter	Yes OS100

NO ONE WANTS THIS WORK DONE. NO ONE WANTS THIS WORK DONE. Since moving here 3 years ago I have noticed that the Road Dept. sure does a lot of unnecessary work. Like installing intersectional wheelchair ramps in places where there are no sidewalks, or yet another repaving of Pebble Beach Drive. Seems to me a majority of the people do not want another unnecessary waste of taxpayer dollars spent to destroy WonderStump. Also it is valuable to Del Norte as an attraction for tourists. If any changes are made number 5 is the only acceptable one to me with underground ditches to keep debris separated, and having little impact to the tree canopy. I walk and run up and down Wonderstump with my kids and dogs several times a week. The tree tunnel is a remarkable one-of-a-kind treasure that must be fought for and preserved. Any destruction of it would be an unconscionable atrocity. It would uglify the area, bring down property values, and anger the community. Any safety or maintenance concerns can be solved with basic common sense. STOP the project NOW. Solutions: * for the buses – trim low-hanging branches periodically. * for ditch maintenance – clean them manually or put in pipes. * for one way issues – the traffic is so minimal that this is a non issue. Put up yield signs on the islands if you must. * people hitting trees – really ?!?!? put some reflectors if you must. but I don't think it's unreasonable to expect drivers to pay attention and stay on the road! Still favor Alternative 1, with increased working WITH local adjacent property owners who take pride in maintaining 'their' road. 2. Still feel some sort of joint maintenance could be worked with County. May need a formal PropertyOwners group to formally work w/ County, re: ditch maintenance, immediate fallen limb removal, keeping fogline striping visible (currently there is none), who would do what etc. Suggest TARGETED survey of specific property owners, w/ very specific questions (rather than broad such as first one). County "one-time" ditch improvements as mentioned in report would be a start, after which Group would assume certain responsibilities. 3. Two collisions in 5 years over such a short length of secondary road (not even fog-line stripe) does not seem sufficient to warrant the costs of radical actions in 5 of 7 Alternative scenarios. More signs at either end 4. Items in Discussion Section: a. Would like more data: 1-how many busses/day utilize this section of road, how many stops? 2-How many medical calls/year have been impacted in the way referred to in bulleted item on pg 8? b. Bullet 2 item: the conditions of this road have nothing to do w/ on-site/nearby water supply for fire-fighting. Found nothing in Alternatives addressing any need for additional fireplugs, access etc. 5. County Maintenance. - personal opinions County is not utilizing resources available to it to get things done, is instead sounding like they want to do less, work less. Personal experience: a. utilize CalFire crews (for less than $500/day crews could have those ditches cleaned out in 2 days), no heavy over-sized equipment w/ paid operators like witnessed a few months ago, they would use a small excavator that would NOT take over entire road, scoop all material out to center of road where it could be quickly hauled off by a second unit. b. utilize CDC/AlderCamp 'prison' crews. They come with supervisors, strict oversight. Manual labor. Cheap. THERE ARE MANY MORE PROJECTS IN THIS COUNTY HIGH-PRICED COUNTY STAFF & EQUIPMENT COULD BE BETTER UTILIZED FOR. The property owners along this road take great pride in it and want to see it's beauty, history, uniqueness, and integrity preserved. Nearly all residents out here currently respect each other, respect the traffic situation, and act/communicate with each other accordingly. County: Work with us, not against. Please. Everyone that lives here agrees that there are no significant problems that need to be fixed. It all boils down the original problem of the county road crews not wanting to get in the ditches and do manual labor. That is why they have come up with a myriad of reasons the road needs to be widened or culverted. If a closed culvert were to go in where would all the little unnamed creeks that flow into the ditch go instead? Has anyone done a hydraulic study? In 1926, a book was published which pictured the Wonder Stump and its unique characteristics. Wonder Stump Road was also featured in a documentary film of a Japanese man that traveled across the United States on roller skates. A memorably part of that film was the trip down Wonder Stump Road.

In 1971, my wife traveled with her family from Saskatchewan, Canada, using a travel guide which was obtained in Canada. This guide led the family to Del Norte County and highlighted Wonder Stump Road. My wife was so impressed with the sight that she dreamed how wonderful it it would be to live here or near such a wonderful site. She now lives on Wheeler Lane which is one of the intersecting lanes with Wonder Stump Road. In 1971, Wonder Stump was still unpaved and was definitely recognizable as a former railroad. In 1976, when the County paved the road, three islands were created for two very good reasons: 1. To slow traffic, and 2. To provide places for vehicles to pass by one another. This has been very effective over the years and has allowed the trees to remain.

To the best of my recollection having lived in this neighborhood for about 45 years, there have been no major traffic accidents on that stretch of road. Yes, there have been a few trees skinned, but some of these spots were actually caused by the ditch cleaning equipment used by the county and not by other motor vehicles. This safety record is very good in comparison to the record of accidents at the intersection of Elk Valley Cross Road and Highway 101 where the roadways are wide and clear, vehicles can travel at highway speeds with passing lanes on both sides of Hwy 101. Making Wonder Stump Road wider will cause the speed to increase, decrease the beauty of the area, and destroy an historic roadway from being seen and appreciated by future generations. Additional right-of-way was purchased for the major reason of retaining the esthetic beauty and historic reality of Wonder Stump Road. That purpose must be honored.

School buses and emergency vehicles have been using the road for many decades without any really major difficulty. We must keep Wonder Stump Road as is.

Sincerely,

Albert George Olson

Dear Chris,

Enclosed are our comments on the proposed Wonder Stump Road project. We have submitted the comments to the County Community Development Department as directed, but wanted to send them directly to you as well. We are greatly concerned at the lack of information about the project.

This is a highly controversial project that has the potential to permanently damage this unique road and have significant negative effects on the resources in the area and our property values. Despite this, there has been very limited public involvement, a cancelled public meeting, a document that is seriously lacking in required detail, and notice that a decision will still be made in June. None of this meets CEQA requirements and certainly would not withstand litigation. If the public meeting could be cancelled because of Covid concerns, then the decision should also be delayed until adequate public involvement and a comprehensive analysis has been completed. This project has been in the works for years, yet there appears there is a rush to a decision without following the proper procedures.

We appreciate your attention to this important project.

Thank you,

RE: Comments on Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project

Dear Heidi,

I submitted comments to the website in June of 2019 which were not incorporated into this document. I am concerned that other public comments may also have been omitted. My issues with the project included the following points:

Increasing the width of the road would increase roadway speeds along this section. Speed is one the top causes of accidents in the US. Increasing speed along this section will greatly reduce the safety of the residents, including school children that walk along this route. The areas of the county where there have been fatal accidents have been on the "public road standards" widths (24 ft with 4 foot shoulders), like Lake Earl, Parkway, and Elk Valley, as well as HWY 101 and 199.

In addition to reducing public safety in this area, by widening the road, increasing speeds, and removing the tree tunnel you will also reduce our property values. Upper Wonder Stump is a desirable place to live because of the beauty of the tree tunnel and the reason most of residents live here, and damaging or losing it will have the significant negative effect of reducing the values of our homes both financially and emotionally.

The other issue I submitted is that the ditch moves a significant amount of water, and that expecting occasional storm drains in a culvert to adequately move that amount of water without flooding is potentially unrealistic. No hydrological report has been done and no design information has been presented, so it is impossible to judge if the work proposed would create long term problems. Repair work at a cross drain several years ago caused multiple years of downstream flooding at a home on Coulson Road that had to be repaired.

It would appear that a large culvert would be needed to move the amount of rain and runoff along this road. A large culvert would require a much larger bed to be dug, removing more trees along the edge and damaging the roots of the trees behind. Trees with damaged roots are unstable, which could lead to die off and blow down, causing additional safety issues. Hundreds of trees may potentially be affected.

There is no report or examination by a certified arborist to evaluate the true effects of the project.

It appears that there are 82 trees identified as needing to be removed because they are impinging on the ditch. In order to clear the ditch, the stumps will need to be completely pulled out, destabilizing the bank, and damaging the roots of trees behind them. You will be damaging more than one layer of trees along the road, further reducing safety and property values.

I disagree with the characterization of the road by the County and "stakeholders". Wonder Stump has two ways in and out, is wide enough for two vehicles to (slowly) pass, unlike a lot of roads in Del Norte County, such as the majority of residential roads off Lake Earl and Parkway drives. Although it meets the County definition of a "collector" road, it is similar to other county collector roads like Dundas, that are less than 2 lane wide, with a low amount of traffic. Many County roads off Lake Earl and Parkway are true one-way, dead end roads, which pose a greater safety issue to their residents.

More than once in the document you state that trees show scars from "assumed collisions". Having lived on this road for more than 25 years and have often been present during road maintenance actions, most of the trees are damaged by road maintenance crews. This statement makes it appear that residents are bouncing off trees with regularity.

Public Involvement

You stated more than once that the "community" (i.e. landowners who will be directly affected by the project) interjected themselves too early in the process because of rumors and mistrust. It is hard not to be concerned when there have been trees marked along the road for years. I directly asked Jeff Daniels more than three years ago why the trees were marked, and he told me the County was considering "mitigating" the problem of tree roots in the ditch, which made it hard to clean the ditch with equipment. I told him that he would need to get residents input before any action was taken, and he assured me that would occur. He later told the person I was with that day that trees were coming down, and that I "wasn't going to like it at all".

Last summer, a surveyor was out on Wonder Stump and said he was locating the property line for the tree removal.

You held a "stakeholders" meeting in November of 2019. The definition of "stakeholder" includes "anyone with a functional or financial interest..., or who may be affected by, or perceive itself to be affected by a decision, activity, or outcome of a project". Your stakeholders group did not include landowners along the roadway, all of whom have a financial interest in the area and will be affected by the outcome of the decision. The information gathered at the stakeholders meeting helped develop the alternatives that will directly affect landowners and their property. Most of the information presented at that meeting was based on assumptions rather than direct knowledge or experience.

These actions do not inspire trust that the County is carrying out an open and unbiased process. Rather than being involved too early in the process, the landowners have not been involved enough in a process that has clearly been in the work for years. It appears that this effort has been an attempt to justify a predetermined action, rather than a true involvement by the community.

You state in your document that the first community meeting was supposed to be a "5-10 minute presentation describing and clarifying the extent of the project followed by public comments being written on sticky notes and placed on poster boards or submitted comments cards". You then went on to say it became a 30 minute open discussion, where you intentionally didn't document any of the concerns or issues raised during the meeting, but commended the "community members" for their good behavior. Your presentation included no details of any of the alternatives except for the title, and when asked for additional details we were told there weren't any to give. You were aware of the concerns that the true stakeholders (landowners) and other community members had for the project since you included all the newspaper articles documenting the opposition to the project, yet you planned a 5-10 minutes presentation without details. You cancelled the second public meeting in March because of Covid-19 (valid reason) and your document still lacks necessary details for a project that will have significant negative effects on property values and residents safety, yet you are moving ahead with decision in June. You need to delay the June decision until you have provided the needed details and have given adequate review and input time to the residents and other community members.

"Stakeholder" comments

1. The statement that emergency service responding to a call may need the move out of the way to open the roadway for the ambulance is a function of the individual driveways, not of Wonder Stump! This situation occurs throughout the County, even along major roads like Lake Earl. Wonder Stump has two ways in and out, so unlike a lot of roads in Del Norte County that are one lane, one way roads, emergency vehicles have an easier time of getting out of a situation here than elsewhere in the County.

2. There is a statement that water tenders need to do laps to get water, and road ways may be blocked by other emergency vehicles that slows down getting water. As stated above, this situation is less dire than the majority of other roads in Del Norte County with true one-way, dead end roads; however, the answer to this would be to add additional fire hydrants along the road. This safety feature would be of high value throughout the county. Having to drive anywhere for water, even on a four-lane highway, reduces efficiency and effectiveness of fire fighting.

3. There was an assumption made that school kids perceive walking in the ditch to be safer than walking on the roadway. In actuality, based on direct observation, not assumptions, the students walk on the roadway, up on the berm, up and down into the ditch, etc, wherever they wander as they play. All of the dog walkers, joggers, children, etc. walk on the road with traffic.

4. The road division says it is unsafe to climb into a flooded ditch to unplug a culvert, yet almost all the culverts occur at a driveway. The culverts can easily be cleaned (and have been) from the safety of the road or driveway.

Collision Data

On page 11 your statement concerning the accidents on Wonder Stump "Collision reports indicate that all five collisions occurred during daylight, no usual roadway conditions existing, cell phones were not in use, and drivers were sober" (I think you meant no unusual roadway conditions existed) leads the reader to assume that the incidents were only caused by the existing condition of the road. This is misleading and incorrect. My husband was among the first on-scene at each of the 2020 incidents. The first incident involved a Wonder Stump resident (someone familiar with the road) where fast food had been spilled all over the front of the car, and it could be easily assumed to have been a distracted driving incident. The second incident involved an out-of-town driver who failed to stop at an uncontrolled intersection at Orchard, a side road to Wonder Stump. This accident could have been prevented by a stop sign on the side road (which are lacking throughout Del Norte County), and had nothing to do with the width of the road, the trees, or the ditch. The third incident was a father with three small children who admitted to having been distracted by his children when the accident happened. You also failed to mention that the third incident occurred at a full two-lane with shoulders section of Wonder Stump, which you have implied throughout is a "safer" alternative.

Safety could easily be improved by installing signs at the islands ("lane narrows, yield to oncoming traffic") and stop signs at side roads. The cost of this would be minimal.

Maintenance Costs

There was no breakdown or explanation of the costs by year, therefore the reader is supposed to assume that standard maintenance costs went up purely because of ditch cleaning; however, it is always obvious when ditch maintenance has been done, and there had been no increase in the amount performed or the quality of the work. There has been pothole repair and asphalt patching, which would increase costs in a specific year, but those costs are not increased by the presence of the ditch or the trees.

There is also no information on the expected cost of any of the work being proposed. A certified road engineer with more than 30 years experience estimated that most of the alternatives would cost more than 1 million dollars (minimum) to accomplish. Even if you considered an average of $10,000/year maintenance cost, and even at the low estimate of 1 million dollars, it would take 100 years for it to pay off. This is not a fiscally responsible decision, just to avoid having to clear parts of the ditch by hand.

You could also contract out the ditch cleaning in the tree tunnel portion of the road. A contractor would have to accept cleaning sections using smaller equipment or by hand, and it would be a much cheaper option and less damaging and more acceptable to the community than spending a lot of money filling in the ditch with a culvert.

Alternatives

Alternative 1: No hydrological study has been performed, yet there is an assumption that drainage problems would increase because tree roots, leaf litter and branches would obstruct the ditches. There are a small number of trees that could be removed (3 or 4, not the 82+ proposed) that would reduce the possibility of this issue, but removing leaf litter and branches removal is the point of the ongoing maintenance. Alternative 1 would not stop standard maintenance activities.

Very few roads in Del Norte County meet SRA or Rural Public Road Standards, and are far more dangerous to their residents than Wonder Stump.

Alternative 2: I strongly disagree that collision types and rates would decrease as lane widths and clear recovery zone increased. This would increase vehicle speeds, which has led to multiple accidents, including fatal accidents, on main roads meeting this standard like Lake Earl, Elk Valley, HWY 199 and HWY 101. Not only would resident's safety be decreased, property values would drop as our homes would now be along a higher speed road.

Alternatives 3 and 4: I strongly disagree that collision types and rates would decrease. These alternatives would require almost all residents to daily access HWY 101 from the north end, which currently is a rare occurrence for most residents. There are no center turn lane or merge lanes from Wonder Stump onto 101, and accessing highway speed traffic is very dangerous. This will greatly increase the possibility of accidents at 101, many of which could be fatal. You will be putting residents at great risk for no valid reason.

Alternative 5: As stated above, the ditch moves a significant amount of water. No hydrological report has been done and no culvert design information has been presented.

Except for the landowner at the northern end where the ditch is shallow, there has never been any flooding. The ditch runs full to the brim in storms and for some time after because of runoff from the properties. Enclosing the ditch with a culvert and occasional storm drains will not be able to handle the amount of water that moves through here, which will lead to long term flooding problems. A certified road engineer determined, based on 30 years experience, that up to a 4 ft culvert could be required to move the large amount of rain and runoff in the area. This would require a much larger bed to be dug, and because of where the City water line is located, would require removing more trees along the edge and damaging the roots of the trees behind. Trees with damaged roots are unstable, which could lead to die off and blow down, causing further safety concerns for residents.

Alternative 6 : see comments for Alternative 2. Same issues here.

Alternative 7 : see comments for Alternative 2. Same issues here.

Wonder Stump Road Property:

The property was purchased in 1996 with a combination of tax payer money and land exchanges of County public properties in order to preserve a unique area of the County. During negotiations for the land in 1995, former Supervisor Clyde Eller said that acquiring the property "would be a tremendous asset to the residents and tourists." It was acknowledged at that time that the road was unique, and that it was a benefit to the County to keep it as is. Actions that widen the road, remove trees, and/or increase the speed limit would change that forever, damaging it not only for the residents but for the community at large and visitors to the area.

Conclusion:

The document is seriously lacking in details, and the conclusions and justifications are based on assumptions and opinions. No decision should be made without further studies and reports that then have been reviewed by the landowners. You have the potential to permanently change our unique, quiet neighborhood for the worse, and are proposing to do so for no valid reasons.

As stated above, the following information is still needed in order to determine what, if any, actions should occur along our properties:

1. A hydrological study needs to be conducted to determine the amount of runoff the area receives. Underestimating the amount could lead to long term flooding issues and greater maintenance costs.

2. An certified arborist needs to review and report on the damage that could occur to the tree tunnel from removal of any trees in the ditch and adjacent from any potential road work.
3. Cost estimates need to be provided for each alternative.
4. Culvert designs and locations need to be provided, as well as the estimated number of trees that could be removed by each alternative.

Further landowner and community input is needed once there are details to review.

Thank you,

Del Norte Unified District's administration no longer recommends immediate cuts in child care programs after finding that additional school funds.

The district determined several months ago that the General Fund's unrestricted balance for 1995-96 will not meet the state requirement of approximately $1.5 million. This meant budget cuts would have to cover the shortfall.

Operating deficits for 1992-93 and 1993-94 were $100,000 and $150,000, respectively. The anticipated deficit for 1995-96 is $200,000, and a projected $250,000 deficit for the 1995/96 year have led down the district's financial base, creating the shortfall.

Today, the projected shortfall is $180,000, down from an announced $380,000 in 1994-95. This could save money on programs originally recommended for cuts just two years ago.

The $200,000 was worked through, "additional measures for May which will help to better estimate the balance in each of the programs projected for 1995," according to the district's preliminary document.

An effort is under way to preserve one of Del Norte County's most unique areas.

Thousands of redwood trees along both sides of Wonderstump Road may be threatened if current negotiations between Del Norte County and Miller-Rellim Redwood Company fail.

The timber company owns not only a 70 foot right-of-way along Wonderstump, but also a swatch of land that runs from Smith River south through the county up to Bertsch Street.

All of which is now for sale.

Residents along Wonderstump have rallied together to lobby local politicians and pass petitions in support of their cause — having the county buy the land rather than a timber company that might log Wonderstump.

"This is about more than property values and esthetics," said Chris Beamish. "This is a community asset. Logging will change the unique quality of this area so drastically that it would be almost criminal."

George and Eva Alton and Frosty Kisling all speak of meeting tourists who drive the road and of friends who bring visitors along the route.

"If this is gone, where will they go?" Eva Alton asked.

"If you cut all those trees, the wind will increase and we will lose saplings and the bigger trees on properties all along the road," explained Susan Beamish.

"The trees left would be vulnerable and at a disadvantage," added Eva. "These trees are dependent upon each other."

Many of the trees that could be cut are ones that now appear to be in people's yards, but are really in the Miller-Rellim right-of-way.

"If the county owned the property, it could solve that problem," George Alton said.

"The county has some positive reasons to acquire land — safety and preservation, creation of bike and equestrian trails," Chris said. "We need to save what we have and put those trees into a bank that draws tourist dollars."

"Once you cut these trees you exhaust the dollars you can get from them," added Susan. "But tourist dollars are a renewable resource."

The county has been negotiating for the property for several weeks. And supervisor Clyde Eller, who along with Supervisor Barbara Clausen is on the county negotiating team, is hopeful a deal can be made.

"We are making every effort to come up with the funds to satisfy Miller-Rellim," Eller said. "It is vital the county owns the property on which they have roads."

"Both Barbara and I have a vision of equestrian and bike trails that stretch from Jed Smith Park, down South Bank Road, Wonderstump, Railroad Avenue, behind the fairgrounds and back up to Jed Smith," Eller said. "It would be a tremendous asset to residents and tourists."

The Supervisors are scheduled to meet in closed session on Friday to discuss the negotiations.

Del Norte Unified School District's administration are no longer recommending immediate cuts in children's programs after finding additional school funds.

The district determined several months ago the General Fund's unrestricted fund balance for 1995-96 would not meet the state minimum of approximately $675,000. This meant budget cuts would have to cover the shortfall.

Operating deficits during 1992-93 and 1993-94, an anticipated deficit for 1994-95 and a projected $565,704 deficit for the projected 1995/96 year have drawn down the district's fund balance, creating the shortfall.

This week, my neighbor Pete Craig and Brenda Devlin-Craig authored and submitted their comments on the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project to your department. If you have had the opportunity to review their comments you would agree that they are well written and address issues of GREAT concern to the residents on Wonder Stump Road, citizens of Del Norte County and surrounding counties, as well as visitors to our community.

As a resident of Wonder Stump Road I am in TOTAL agreement with everything they have addressed. From conversation that I have had with MANY residents of Wonderstump Road and citizens of Del Norte County I can testify that 99 % would agree with the issues Pete and Brenda have addressed.

Our community is blessed with the beauty of our beaches and parks. We are also blessed with the beauty of other very special places, places that are quite unique and enjoyed by ALL who experience them... like Wonder Stump Road. These special places are deserving of the greatest effort we can offer to maintain them and keep them special, no matter the cost. If a government agency or department consider them in their opinion to be too costly to maintain, shame on them. We taxpayers flip the bill for the maintenance. If a government agency or department consider them in their opinion to be unsafe, they need to seriously engage in discussion with those living in or on these special places. These are the ONLY people who live and experience the travel on Wonder Stump Road daily and are witness to any difficulty someone might have navigating Wonder Stump Road.

My family and I have lived on Wonder Stump Road for over 30 years. Our home sits just 30 feet from the road. We are one of those who live on, experience and witness travel on this road. I am here to tell you that safely navigating travel on Wonderstump Road is not any great challenge. It could however be made to be safer for those who are not familiar with the road simply by installing signage (replacing the "Island" signs) that advises travelers "Road Narrows" and "Turn on Lights". Pete and Brenda address the reports on accidents on Wonder Stump Road, which are very few (5 total – 3 within the past year) and that is over a period of over 30 years that I know of. The trees did not cause these accidents. From speaking with several current and past School Bus Drivers, the only complaint they have to share is the need for low lying tree branches to be better maintained. Your department addresses the scars that are present on several of the trees. Just as Pete and Brenda addresses where the scaring came from, I can testify to be correct. My family and I have been witness to the scaring from County Roads Department Equipment and from big semi-trucks hauling lumber and/or dirt. The scaring is NOT from vehicle traffic.

The road is not so narrow that residents cannot safely enjoy walking or jogging. It is not so narrow as to pose a danger to school children that any other road would pose. Our families, friends and visitors walk our roads all the time. Our children wait safely for their busses every school day. To my knowledge there has NEVER been accident on Wonder Stump Road involving a pedestrian.

Wonderstump Road has never experienced flooding within the Tree Tunnel. The only area of flooding can be found at the south end of the road by Mobil Lane. In addition to that area, there is one property on the west side of the north end of the road that experiences standing water during big storms due to the fact that the ditch is not deep enough.

If it were found that Wonderstump Road was a historical landmark as defined by our government, or if it was discovered that Wonder Stump Road was partially on or neighbored a Native American Burial Ground the drastic changed being considered by the Roads Department would not be a thought. The only thought would be to continue to maintain the road to the degree it deserves. Just as the "Historical Landmark" or the "Native American Burial Ground" deserve our greatest respect and care, so does Del Norte County's "Wonder Stump Road", a wonder that our entire community and visitors to our community greatly enjoy.

It is unfortunate that the 2nd meeting you had scheduled to address this issue on May 22nd, 2020 must be held without the public being present because of the Covid-19 Virus.

Because this matter is of such great importance to many, many people it deserves to be postponed until such time as to allow the public to be present. This is NOT an urgent matter that cannot wait until such a time that allows for the public to be present.

Sincerely,

Jim and Sheila Coop

Re: Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

Dear Ms. Kunstal,

Thank you for this opportunity to comment on possible development of Wonder Stump Road. Though I am not a property owner along the road, I have been using this road since the 1950's for its' scenic qualities. We have often taken out of town guests and relatives for a drive over this road as it is a true scenic gem of Del Norte County.

In reviewing the Preliminary Draft of the Community and Stakeholder Engagement document, it appears to me that the DNC Roads Department is creating a problem where none needs to exist. If the north end of Wonder Stump Road is too narrow to accommodate the equipment desired to clean out the drainage ditch once a year, why not just use smaller equipment? It is my understanding that Mr. Daniels is insisting on using a rather large excavator with a four foot bucket to perform a job that can easily be done with a smaller machine or by hand labor. This task of cleaning the drainage ditch has been performed for decades without being an issue, but now of a sudden, it is a problem that threatens the integrity of WSR's scenic qualities by cutting trees to accommodate this large equipment. A little creativity in completing the task at hand, cleaning a two foot deep drainage ditch, could go a long way in dispelling the angst that property owners and users like me have toward the County Roads Department, thus avoiding the expense of this long drawn out process.

I am in support of action Alternative 1, do nothing to change the configuration of Wonder Stump Road. The Del Norte County relies heavily on tourism as a significant contributor to our local economy. Our local Chamber of Commerce claims that $150,000,000 is generated by tourism annually. Wonder Stump Road is one of the rare county gems that help to generate this income to our community. Why should the County Roads Department tamper with diminishing this income?

Action Alternative 2 is not viable as it does not create a 24 ft. road width without destroying at least one side of the redwood canopy that creates the beauty of this drive. Your own documentation states that the distance from tree line to tree line is only eighteen feet. Why would Del Norte County Roads Dept. go to this expense to simply keep a ditch clean? Alternative 2 only helps to increase the concern and mistrust of the County that people have developed in relation to maintenance of WSR. Why not just utilize that maintenance methods used in previous decades to accomplish this simple task?

Action Alternatives 3 and 4 will create an unsafe condition on the North end of WSR as there is neither left hand turns lane nor an acceleration lane to safely enter or exit Highway 101. You are asking residents to travel out of their way on a daily basis to enter or exit WSR. Also, you do not mention the expense of creating these safety measures on Highway 101. Why are you making such a proposal just to keep a ditch clean once a year?

Action Alternative 5 really doesn't make any sense because of the phrase, "Underground open ditch...". Will the ditch still be open as it is now or will it be replaced by a drainage pipe, underground? A drainage pipe that is then paved over will result in a wider road surface with less maintenance costs; but this is not clearly stated in Alternative 5. So I am opposed to alternative 5 as it is written. Please provide a clearly stated plan for this option.

In my estimation Alternatives 6 and 7 will be prohibitively expensive and completely destroy the redwood canopy that everyone loves. Again, why go to all this trouble and expense just because a two foot ditch needs to be cleaned once a year and has been successfully achieved for decades by our County Roads Department?

If the primary goal of this process is "... to be transparent and dispel rumors of mass tree removal...", then I feel that this documentation process has ultimately failed. You state: "County maintenance crews are unable to continue using mechanized equipment to maintain existing ditches as a result of cumulative tree and root growth. It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone." This statement leaves the reader thinking that the county is disingenuous in its desire to complete the task as the traffic pattern is extremely light and easy to control. Plus, there are many options for cleaning the ditch, like manual labor or smaller machinery, which can get the job done expediently and in an inexpensive manner. So the reader of this document is left feeling doubtful of the DN County Road Department's intentions.

Thank you for considering my comments and including them with this Community and Stakeholder Engagement process.

Sincerely, Don Gillespie

RE: Comments on Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project

Dear Heidi,

I am writing to express my concerns and describe the issues I have with most of the alternatives described in the “Preliminary Draft Summary of Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement.

Alternative 1 - No Improvements (current conditions)

This is my preferred alternative. The road is safe. This honors the wishes of the community, past present and future. In the middle 1990’s our representatives recognized the special nature of this section of Wonder Stump Road by acquiring this property in order to preserve it’s unique and scenic qualities. The road is narrow but safe by virtue of it’s slower speed limit. The small number of accidents listed between 2014 and 2020 were not caused by the narrow road surface or open ditches. Additional signs are needed. Stop signs at the intersections, narrow lane, wait for traffic, and reflective markers would have prevented most of those listed. The limited information in the charts and vague inferences in that section of the summary are inaccurate.

Alternative 2 - Urban and Rural Public Roads Standards (24 foot paved surface with 4 foot shoulders)

I have an issue with the increased speed and decreased safety for vehicle passengers and pedestrians that this two-lane road would bring. Considering other roads such as Parkway, Railroad, Elk Valley, and Elk Valley Crossroads and the southern end of Wonder Stump to be comparable examples of this width. Another issue I have is that this alternative would require the removal of several layers of trees to the east and west of the existing road surface. That would expose remaining trees to new wind forces and weaken their root systems, resulting in increased blowdown. This would decrease safety to vehicles, pedestrians, and homeowners and increase liability to the county.

Alternative 3 - One Way Northbound

I have an issue with the very unsafe situation this would create at the north end of this section at the intersection of Wonder Stump and Highway 101. There will certainly be an increase in serious accidents with more traffic waiting to turn across 101 with no center turn lane and also with more traffic turning onto 101 with a merge lane. This unsafe alternative would be unacceptable.

Alternative 4 - One Way Southbound

See Alternative three above. I have the same issues with this alternative.

Alternative 5 - Drainage Improvements with Paved Surface

I have the same issue with this alternative as I do with Alternative 2. This would require more trees to be removed, weakening those that remain. I also see no hydrological analysis or arborist report to provide the needed information about the ditch or culvert design or impact to trees.

Alternative 6 - SRA Fire Safe Regulations (22 foot paved surface with no shoulders)

I have the same issues on this that I have with Alternative 2, 5, and 6. More risk and not enough information provided.

Alternative 7 - 24 Foot Paved Surface With No Shoulders

I have the same issues on this that I have with Alternative 2, 5, 6, and 7. More risk and not enough information provided.

I recommend safety improvements be made to the existing roadway as in Alternative 1.

1. Simple street signs stating something like Road Narrows, wait for oncoming traffic to clear
2. Stop signs be placed at road intersections. These would be needed at Wheeler, Coulson, Orchard, and Donna DeClue.
3. Fire hydrants be placed at appropriate locations to solve the water supply issue and eliminate the need to use tenders to shuttle water.

Thank you,

/s/ Peter Craig

Following Media Coverage, Wonder Stump Road Residents Set Sights On Community Meeting

Wonder Stump Road residents hope to get answers about the future of their street at a community meeting next week. Photo: Jessica Cejnar

Their street has drawn media coverage and spawned petition signatures and Facebook posts from across the country. Now Wonder Stump Road residents are setting their sights on a public meeting.

Despite the attention, including an article (https://www.latimes.com/california/story/2019-11-11/in-del-norte-county-a-fight-over-the-redwoods-of-wonder-stump-road?fbclid=IwAR0gWpMbV9vUIwXKpMgKDZUbBV5MFNuxs89NjwzaCdh11B_zi845sKY0Nxxg) in the Los Angeles Times that also appeared in the San Jose Mercury News, Donna Eller said she and her neighbors aren't sure what the county's plans are for the canopy of redwoods that shelters their road. She told the Outpost that she hopes to get answers from county staff on Dec. 12.

Eller also hopes to get as many people to show up as possible.

"I just don't know if there's a developer," she told the Wild Rivers Outpost. "I still say there's a reason we're not finding out about (it)... We're just not being told anything."

Del Norte County is holding its first community meeting roughly five months after Community Development staff asked Wonder Stump Road residents for comment potential improvements to the area between Yonkers Bridge and U.S. 101.

In the July 22, 2019 letter, Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal told residents that maintaining the road while allowing for motorist travel is no longer safe for workers. The "oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic" hinders emergency vehicles and school buses. Trees along the street's paved surface and shoulders also bear scars from being hit, according to the letter.

Roads superintendent Jeff Daniels told the Outpost in July that the county has no intentions of harming Wonder Stump's tree tunnel.

In July, staff began assessing current road conditions on Wonder Stump. Preliminary "conceptual alternatives" were anticipated in September or October and stakeholder and community meetings were planned for November and December, according to Kunstal's letter.

On Monday, Kunstal told the Outpost via email that the process for preparing the planning document hasn't changed.

"We look forward to gathering more public input," she told the Outpost.

Even though the county's plans for Wonder Stump Road have yet to be determined, Eller founded the Save Wonderstump Facebook group shortly after receiving Kunstal's letter in July. It currently has more than 1,100 members, she said, who use it as a place to update those who are interested as well as to share ideas from other communities that have faced similar issues.

In addition to the Facebook group, Daniel Russ, a Reno, Nevada man with ties to Del Norte, started a change.org petition. In July, Russ told the Outpost his goal was to get 1,500 people to sign.

On Monday, Eller said nearly 5,800 people have signed it. The petition also has about 6,000 supporters, she said.

"They are from all over the country," she said. "They are people from literally all over the country that have come here to vacation. This is one of their ritual stops where they come."

Wonder Stump Road was once part of the Hobbs, Wall & Co. rail line that brought people from Crescent City to Smith River and back for 75 cents, according to a May 4, 1891 flyer.

The road was named after the Wonder Stump, remnants of a tree that was growing on top of another tree that fell more than 1,000 years ago. The Wonder Stump had been a tourist attraction for more than 50 years, according to an Aug. 1, 2009 article in the Curry Coastal Pilot by Arwyn Rice.

Following a second set of public meetings, county staff will present a summary of the feedback it received to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors in May or June 2020.

The county's public meeting will be held from 4:30 p.m.-6 p.m. Dec. 12 at the Crescent Fire Protection District fire hall, 255 Washington Boulevard in Crescent City.

People can also provide input on potential Wonder Stump Road improvements via the Del Norte Transportation Commission's crowdsourcing tool (<https://delnortetransportation.commonplace.is/>) as well as online surveys (https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1ccHrB-YcWwRoFe8nl8mBO4kl1rsvinQpPKlgkrKmBlw/viewform?edit_requested=true). A comment card can also be sent to the Community Development Department at 981 H Street, Suite 110; Crescent City, CA 95531.

Daniel Russ started this petition to Lori Cowan, Chair Del Norte County Board of Supervisors and 4 others

Beautiful redwood lined Wonder Stump Road, located in Del Norte County is a real jewel. It is located north of Crescent City, California. It is lined almost the entire length by mature second growth redwood trees. The road is a scenic beauty. It's location is near the Smith River, the cleanest river in America and just over the hill from Jedediah Smith State Park.

In recent days a surveyor has been observed marking trees for removal. When asked he stated that the road was being surveyed for widening and other improvements. We are opposed to these measures as they will alter the beauty of this gorgeous stretch of road.

This is a petition to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors to halt these plans, as we believe it will forever alter the beauty of this stretch of the road.

"We the undersigned, realizing the historical, aesthetic, and natural beauty of Del Norte County's Wonder Stump Road, wish that this road be left at it's present width and condition, only being paved and maintained as necessary and little else. We do not agree to the widening of the road or the removal of any islands or trees along the length of Wonder Stump Road."

They're at it again. Redwood lined Wonder Stump Road is again on the chopping block.

Despite assurances that the destruction of Redwood trees along Wonder Stump Road was off the table, the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors once again has it on their agenda for next week's meeting. Among the proposals is seizing property, chopping iconic redwood trees down and widening the road from one to two lanes. The County is calling Wonder Stump Road a "Major Feeder". This is in reality a rural country road. The vast majority of residents don't want this. They want the road left the way it is. Please once again share this petition and write a short note to be included in the comments for the Board of Supervisors' meeting. They think we are asleep and are hoping to sneak this through. We are in the midst of a pandemic. Money will be short. What are they thinking?!

Del Norte Supervisors say they have no plans for Wonder Stump Road

August 18, 2019

DEL NORTE COUNTY, Ca (KIEM) – Del Norte County residents raise concerns over rumors that the County is going to cut down trees on Wonder Stump Road. The Board of Supervisors says that's not the case.

At a recent Board of Supervisors meeting, the representatives wanted to make it clear that the County is only asking for public input. According to them, no project is put in place to cut down any trees. They need a solution on what they should do about road maintenance.

"We want to hear from you about what you enjoy about Wonder Stomp Road. More importantly, about the aesthetic qualities that attract so many people to want to live in that area. We as a County and more importantly, we as a Roads Department want to know from you what you wish to have happened with Wonder Stomp Road," said 3rd District Supervisor Chris Howard.

To find out how you can give your public input on what to do with Wonder Stump Road, contact the Del Norte County Counsel at (707) 464 – 7208.

wonder stump road redwoods history of wonder stump post cartree roots after stump grinding stump and root removal

The Del Norte Wonder[stump] was made famous on postcards in the 1930s-40s, discovered when the areas north of Crescent City were being logged. The tree that was cut, a Coast Redwood, was discovered to have grown on/over/around a fallen tree. An newspaper article reported that "in the 1940's an expert found that the original stump (log) was 1,000 years old when the tree fell and the tree growing out of the stump (log), 1,000 years its junior." So the caption on the postcard is slightly in error. Redwoods average 1500-2000 years, so it was truly remarkable nonetheless. Perhaps it was a 1500 year old log, overgrown by a 2000 year old tree to make the 3500 years total.

The stump is located off of Wonderstump Road north of Crescent City, on private property, and sadly is in an advanced state of natural decay.

Wonder Stump Road Conflict Sparks Petition

One of the "islands" through the tree tunnel on Wonder Stump Road.

A Nevada man with ties to Del Norte has collected more than 1,200 signatures on a petition to the Board of Supervisors to leave Wonder Stump Road "the way it is."

Daniel Russ, of Reno, Nev., is aiming to get 1,500 people to sign his change.org petition. According to Wonder Stump Road resident Donna Eller, Russ started the petition at about 9 p.m. Friday and already has 1,265 signatures.

Eller created the Facebook page "Save Wonderstump" after residents received notices from the county requesting input about potential improvements on the road between Yonkers Bridge and U.S. 101. Though county officials say they haven't decided what improvements will be necessary, residents are worried they may damage a beloved tree tunnel of second-growth redwood trees.

Russ's petition describes the road and said a surveyor was observed marking trees "for removal" and when asked stated the road was being surveyed for "widening and other improvements."

"We the undersigned, realizing the historical, aesthetic and natural beauty of Del Norte County's Wonder Stump Road, wish that this road be left at its present width and condition, only being paved and maintained as necessary and little else. We do not agree to any widening of the road or removal of any islands or trees along the length of Wonder Stump Road," the petition states.

00006

On Monday, Eller said Russ is part of the McKay family that has lived in the Crescent City and Fort Dick area for many years. An old postcard shows a member of the McKay family sitting on top of the Wonder Stump, Eller said. She said she has been communicating with Russ via Facebook.

"He came across my Facebook page one night and we were Facebook messaging and he offered to help me out," she said. "I had no idea where this was going."

Wonder Stump Road was once part of the Hobbs, Wall & Co. rail line that once brought people from Crescent City to Smith River and back for 75 cents, according to a May 4, 1891 flyer.

The road was named after the Wonder Stump, remnants of a tree that was growing on top of another tree that fell more than 1,000 years ago. The Wonder Stump, which had been logged before 1900, was a tourist attraction for more than 50 years, according to an Aug. 1, 2009 article in the Curry Coastal Pilot by Arwyn Rice.

"It wasn't the biggest, or carved into a house, and cars couldn't drive through it, but it was the most unusual," Rice wrote.

The tree was featured in advertising, Ripley's Believe It or Not and in National Geographic magazine, according to a newspaper clipping from the Del Norte County Historical Society.

In a July 22 letter to county residents, Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal said her department is working on a "planning-level document compiling community and stakeholder input" on potential improvements to Wonder Stump.

According to Kunstal's letter, Wonder Stump Road is not safe for workers to continue to maintain while allowing for motorist travel. Meanwhile, the "oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic" hinders emergency vehicles and school buses.

Staff is assessing current conditions, including where the trees are located and will develop further plans by September or October, according to Kunstal. The county will hold public meetings in November or December, according to the letter.

Following a second set of public meetings, county staff will present a summary of the feedback it received to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors in May or June 2020.

Despite Kunstal's letter, Wonder Stump Road residents were skeptical that the county had no intention of damaging the tree tunnel. Jim Coop, a 30-year Wonder Stump Road resident, told the Wild Rivers Outpost last week that he had spoken with a surveyor whose information contradicted assurances he had received from the county after staff had marked about 100 trees last year.

"I was interested in finding out if he was out surveying property lines," Coop said. "He said, 'N I'm out here to survey the road... for possible expansion.'"

So far, the Facebook group "Save Wonderstump" has 717 members.

As for Russ's petition, it's getting signatures from people from around the country, Eller said.

"They've come here on vacation or they used to live here and have since moved away," she said. "People have various reasons for signing it."

Before bringing the signed petition before the Board of Supervisors, Eller said she plans to circulate a petition among Wonder Stump Road residents and another for Del Norte County residents. She said she's hoping for a show of force at a future Board of Supervisors meeting.

"We'll have those petitions at the farmers market and at the Mailroom and at various places where people can sign them," she said. "There's a lot of passion to save the history here and the beauty."

DEL NOTRE, Calif. — Almost two thousand people have signed a petition to save Wonder Stump Road in Crescent City. Their Facebook group has over 700 members, all to stop the county from possibly cutting down the redwood trees.

Del Norte Roads Superintendent Jeff Daniels said the road needs improvement because there's a drainage issue and it's about keeping the public safe.

Residents of Wonder Stump think otherwise, saying they have never once seen a safety issue. One resident named Jeannie Reitterer was a bus driver for Del Norte County for nine years. She would drive up and down Wonder Stump Road four times a day and said she's never encountered a hazard.

"I never had an issues with a redwood branch hitting my bus," Reitterer said. "I had issues with other branches and vegetation hitting the side of the bus. Typically when that happens, we radio it in, dispatch calls the roads department, and the roads department comes and trims that branch."

Although it's a one-way road, residents explained there's not a lot of traffic on this road, so people tend to be patient.

"We want to do as least as possible to achieve the goal and the goal is to fix the drainage and collect whatever may come off whatever property," Daniels said. "That's what surveyors are out here for. You can't just put a pipe in and the water that will typically drain is not draining anymore."

Many residents on Wonder Stump Road say that widening the road and changing things would cause more problems. They even say if the road were to widen, it would bring in more traffic because it's parallel between Highway 101 and Lake Earl Drive.

"There is nothing like it, anywhere," Susan McKay, another Wonder Stump resident said. "Once you change it, it's gone."

When a decision is made, it will be debated upon many people.

People will be gathering at the Board of Supervisors meeting in Del Norte on Aug. 13, 2019.

The Del Norte Wonder{stump} was made famous on postcards in the 1930s-40s, discovered when the areas north of Crescent City were being logged. The tree that was cut, a Coast Redwood, was discovered to have grown on/over/around a fallen tree. An newspaper article reported that "in the 1940's an expert found that the original stump (log) was 1,000 years old when the tree fell and the tree growing out of the stump (log), 1,000 years its junior." So the caption on the postcard is slightly in error. Redwoods average 1500-2000 years, so it was truly remarkable nonetheless. Perhaps it was a 1500 year old log, overgrown by a 2000 year old tree to make the 3500 years total.

The stump is located off of Wonderstump Road north of Crescent City, on private property, and sadly is in an advanced state of natural decay.

In Northern California logging country, residents brace for a fight over their 'magical' redwood-lined road

FORT DICK, Calif. — Wonder Stump Road passes beneath a canopy of needled redwood boughs that scatter sunbeams and cast an otherworldly green hue.

A drive along the narrow one-lane road is quiet. Tranquil.

But these days, terse hand-painted signs poke out from driveways of homes tucked in the woods.

We like our trees right where they ARE

LEAVE OUR TREES ALONE!!

In this sparsely populated, economically depressed northwest corner of California, people don't have the tourist attractions that urbanites brag about. There are no five-star restaurants, no world-famous museums or amusement parks, no nightlife scene.

What people do have to boast about are trees — California's iconic coast redwoods, the tallest trees on Earth. Wonder Stump Road is lined on both sides by them.

In a region transformed by logging over the last century, residents have long worried that someone is going to come along and chop down the so-called tree tunnel of Wonder Stump Road. Those fears were heightened last year when county workers marked scores of trees with bright orange paint.

"It means a lot to us, and it should mean a lot to everybody," said Bryan Stanley, who has lived on Wonder Stump for two decades. "The trees are the lungs of the world, and if we lose those, we're all gone."

People here aren't exactly tree huggers. Del Norte County is blue-collar country, where people talk seriously about carving a separate State of Jefferson out of California's rural, conservative northern counties, and where loggers and fishermen have long bristled at government regulations.

"My family, we're staunch conservatives. We're not anti-logging or anything, but these trees don't need to go," said Mac Eller, a correctional sergeant at nearby Pelican Bay State Prison who has lived on Wonder Stump for 13 years.

ADVERTISEMENT

By the standards of a Los Angeles freeway, Wonder Stump Road — a 2.5-mile scenic byway between Crescent City and the tiny community of Fort Dick — is practically deserted. But in a mailer to residents this summer, Del Norte County officials called the road a "major collector" on which two-way traffic, including emergency vehicles and school buses, overwhelmed the one-lane road.

County officials said tree and root growth had made the road difficult to maintain and that crews would be assessing the road for potential changes. Whether the road will be widened or redwoods will be cut down is yet to be determined.

Residents say the county has been dismissive of their concerns. And one of the prevailing theories is that road crews complaining about how difficult it is to clean the road just don't appreciate the value of old-fashioned hard work anymore.

"It just bugs me because it seems like they're going to come out here one day and start working and nobody will have anything to say about it," Stanley said.

ADVERTISEMENT

Del Norte County Supervisor Gerry Hemmingsen said there had been "all kinds of rumors," including that the county is going to sell the redwoods to the Japanese city of Rikuzentakata, which formed a sister city partnership with Crescent City after a 2011 earthquake and tsunami sent a barnacle-covered Japanese fishing boat across the Pacific Ocean that washed ashore in Crescent City two years later.

"I don't know where all this information comes from," Hemmingsen said. "It's kind of comical at times. We don't want to see the road deteriorate so bad that we can't operate on it."

Hemmingsen said the road had drainage problems and that fixes needed to be made "before it completely erodes the road away." County road crews have a tough time using mechanized equipment on Wonder Stump and spend an inordinate amount of time cleaning it, he said.

Hemmingsen said it's possible the county could add a culvert pipe and "widen the road a bit so you can't drive down into the ditch and make it a little safer."

"There has been no talk of cutting down all the trees. ... Evidently there's a lot of mistrust in the government out there," he said.

Virtually all coast redwoods grow in a narrow, fog-laden strip from Big Sur to southern Oregon. After the California Gold Rush, 95% of the original coast redwood forest was logged, according to Save the Redwoods League, a century-old conservation group.

Today, some 45% of the world's protected old-growth redwood forests are in Del Norte and Humboldt counties within the boundaries of Redwood National and State Parks, a complex that includes Redwoods National Park, and Jedediah Smith, Del Norte Coast and Prairie Creek redwoods state parks, according to Save the Redwoods.

ADVERTISEMENT

The redwoods of Wonder Stump Road grow just outside those boundaries, about a mile west of Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park, and have fewer protections than those in the parks.

As second-growth trees — meaning they're growing in a place that has been logged at least once — the Wonder Stump trees are practically babies compared with some 2,000-year-old coast redwoods.

That doesn't make them any less special to residents, who say the county has been evasive.

A summer letter from Del Norte County Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal — which began, "You may have heard" the county was gathering public input on "potential improvements" — was dated July 22 and said that road assessment had begun three weeks earlier, it was the first written communication to property owners about possible changes to the road.

ADVERTISEMENT

Asked by The Times why trees were marked with orange paint last year, Kunstal said: "It doesn't really matter. It really wasn't anything. ... The markings on the trees, they have no relevancy to what may or may not happen."

00010

Kunstal told the Del Norte Triplicate last year that the county's road superintendent had marked the trees as candidates for removal but that a project had not been prioritized or funded.

Before being converted to a road, Wonder Stump was part of a rail line built in the early 1900s by the Hobbs, Wall & Co. timber company. The street is named after remnants of a massive redwood felled by loggers that had grown atop an older 8-foot-wide tree that had fallen more than a thousand years earlier, according to the Del Norte County Historical Society.

A Change.org petition asking for the trees along Wonder Stump to be left alone has more than 5,300 signatures.

ADVERTISEMENT

"They know people get their panties in a bunch when we talk about this stuff," Eller said.

Eller said his father, Clyde Eller, a former county supervisor, helped preserve the trees years ago by pushing the county to purchase its right of way because a timber company planned to cut the trees down.

"My dad used to be a logger. ... He had no problem cutting a tree down. His family used to hunt to live. They were poor and did whatever they had to do to survive," Eller said, "And now, well, this road. He's always liked the road, and it was unique and something our county had that was special."

Eller's wife, Donna, cares for her 96-year-old mother, who has Alzheimer's and rarely leaves home. She cherishes the chance to wave at drivers pulling over to let her pass on the narrow road.

"We just wave at each other and smile and go on," she said. "Sometimes, it could be days that I don't get out of the house, and that interaction with someone is the only interaction I have. ... I always think, they're driving south, where are they going to end up?"

Jeannie Reitterer, a retired Del Norte County school bus driver who lives on Wonder Stump, said she was frustrated the county was "using the school buses as an excuse" because she spent years driving a bus on the road four times a day and never had problems.

ADVERTISEMENT

Reitterer said she also didn't buy that emergency vehicles couldn't get through. She's had to call an ambulance three times — including once when her son fell out of a redwood tree and a branch pierced his back (he recovered just fine, she said) — and they got there within minutes, she said.

This summer, Reitterer said, a county worker was near her property with a surveyor's tripod, and she asked him what he was doing. He told her they were just looking, but she remains suspicious.

"They're being very vague," she said. "It's small-town politics and really hush-hush ... and that's the scariest part about it. If they would just be honest and tell us what their intentions were, it would be more understandable. But they're not."

Susan McKay, who grew up on Wonder Stump, said she didn't believe county officials truly appreciated "how unique and beautiful it is."

ADVERTISEMENT

"It has a magical feel to it," she said. "Once it's gone, it's gone."

In an undated black-and-white photograph, her grandfather, William McKay, is a young man clutching a rifle, perched atop — and dwarfed by — the original Wonder Stump. He was a logger, as was his father and his son, Susan McKay said. The image was made into a postcard decades ago, when the stump was a tourist attraction, she said.

Wonder Stump Road, she said, is a place of peace that needs to remain. It inspires poetry in her, including this haiku:

*Notice while driving
Down the canopy of trees
The peace in your heart.*

Residents Stumped: Some along Wonder Stump Road fear county's plans

By David Hayes Staff Writer
Aug 7, 2019

Over the years, residents of Wonder Stump Road have expressed concerns that Del Norte County officials are moving toward an unnecessary widening of the road, all the while receiving assurances no such plan is in motion.

Their biggest ongoing concern, the say, is actions the county is taking without first notifying the residents.

00011

"First, they started counting cars," said Mac Eller, who's lived on Wonder Stump Road, which is 3 to 4 miles from the north Crescent City line, since 2007. "Nobody said they were going to do that. They marked the trees. Nobody said a word about that to us in advance."

When residents discovered the orange paint blots on trees along the lane in 2018, marking them for potential removal, Del Norte County Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal said at the time that the county's roads superintendent flagged the trees as candidates for removal but that the project had neither been prioritized nor funded.

"It's an opportunity for us to look at what type of options we have," she told The Triplicate on June 19, 2018. "But one thing I'd like to make very clear is, we all know the importance of that canopy to people in our area."

Jump ahead a year, when a surveyor showed up along Wonder Stump Road on July 12 without notice. Eller said he asked him why he was surveying the road and was told it was in case the county wants to widen it.

Residents' fears peaked when they received a July 22 letter from the county seeking to "thoroughly discuss community and stakeholder concerns and solutions and the pros and cons of potential improvements to the County's property better known as Wonder Stump Road."

The letter outlined a process, including meetings and studies, to be completed by June 30, 2020. The result would be a summary of engagement that could be adopted by the Board of County Supervisors at that time.

Kunstal last week declined to comment further, saying she had nothing to add that wasn't in the letter sent to the residents.

Wonderstump Road, which is about 2 miles long, got its name after an enormous, 1,500-year-old redwood toppled, and over the next 3,500 years another redwood grew up, over and around the original.

The upper portion of the growth was logged in the 1800s, leaving behind an unusual stump growth that remains to this day near Eller's property.

The lane itself features redwoods along both sides, creating a canopy effect.

"To make this two lanes, you're going to have to take out a bunch of trees, which will ruin the aesthetics of our little tree tunnel," Eller said. "And the speed limit will go from 25 to 45, (which is) not a good idea with people pulling out of their driveways."

The county's letter also cited its concern for trees being damaged by passing vehicles. But the local residents insist such accidents, few in number, have involved vehicles running into or clipping a tree as the result of operator error, not due to the trees' close proximity.

"The county also says one of the concerns is for emergency vehicles," said local resident Jim Coop. "In the 30 years I've lived here, I've seen maybe a handful (of emergency vehicles), and never a problem. Same with school buses. No problems."

"And they say this is a heavily trafficked road? Oh, my God! That is such a crock!"

On the other hand, said Coop, simply changing the lane's signage would be an easy fix for some of the perceived problems.

"At each end of the tunnel is a squiggly arrow with an 'island ahead' sign," he said. "Well, who cares about that sign? Just put up signs saying 'turn your lights on, 25 miles per hour, one-way traffic yield to oncoming traffic.' And that's all you've got to do."

Coop also disputes the county's stated concerns of roots overgrowing the ditches. "I can remember taking my kids, when we first got out here, walking up and down the tree tunnel," he said. "We noticed there were roots in the ditches. In 30 years, they might have grown 2 inches."

What's more, said Coop, he's spoken with a local bus driver who said her only concern navigating the tree tunnel was low-hanging branches that brushed her lights.

Area residents also dispute the county's letter that, "It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone."

As long-time residents, they said, they've grown accustomed to navigating the narrow lane with the sparse traffic it receives. "That's the highlight of my day," Donna Eller said. "When I wait for a car or someone waits for me, to smile and wave to somebody might be the only encounter I have with somebody all day.

"And it's always a friendly encounter."

Residents said they've have reached out to public officials and in return have received mixed messages. Eller said he's been told in conversations so much conflicting information that he's reached the point he doesn't know what to believe.

"I understand the need for the county to do research to determine whether or not we do need to put in a culvert or not," Eller said. "But you know what? They're just not being forthcoming.

"They're not being 'transparent,' is the key word with me."

One solution proposed by local residents to address the perceived danger their narrow lane presents to fire emergency vehicles is to install fire hydrants along the route. A city water main runs the length of Wonder Stump, they said.

"They want us to come up with solutions? None of us are engineers," said Eller. "We just live here. But that's one (solution) right there."

As for the county's concerns about flooding, said Eller, he's never experienced flooding issues in the dozen years he's lived there. "So building a culvert along the road to address flooding doesn't make sense, either."

00011

45/46 00011

In a heavy storm, Wonder Stump Road can become covered with a thick blanket of pine needles. The clean-up can clog the adjoining ditches. But that's simply a maintenance issue, said the nearby residents. They've never seen the road blocked or impassable.

"I want to be proactive," said Eller, "and not reactive after they've gone in and done what they're going to do."

Meantime, their message has reached outside the state's borders. Daniel Russ, now living in Sparks, Nevada, has had family ties to the Wonder Stump community dating back to the 1800s. When he heard of the community's concerns through the Facebook page Save Wonderstump, he contacted the page's creator, Donna Eller, to brainstorm ways to get their message a wider audience.

"I decided to start a petition, to see what would happen," Russ said.

Found at <https://bit.ly/2ZCCaOp>, his petition caught the attention of people from beyond the region, with the number of signatures currently nearing 4,000.

"Personally, I didn't expect to get 100," Russ said.

The group's plan is to present the petition, with an organized front by the residents, during the next County Board of Supervisors meeting, on Aug. 13.

At the same time, Mac Eller said, given the current alignment of the county's board, he fears the landowners' concerns will fall on deaf ears.

If that happens, said Coop, "I'll invite in groups like the Sierra Club and the Save the Redwoods Organization.

"I never thought I'd approach that level of activism. But I know we won't have any problem at all finding groups in Humboldt County to come up here and support our efforts to maintain the road the way it is right now."

He mused that he hadn't thought he'd have anything in common with the stereotypical "treehugger." "Whenever I saw somebody protesting on TV, I was like, 'Get a life. Don't you work?'

"Well, here we are. We're making a stand because it means something to us.

"If you allow for more traffic, we're going to get more traffic. If you remove the trees, you remove what makes Wonder Stump Lane special."

No plans to remove marked trees on Wonder Stump

A recent action by county staff to mark more than 100 trees on Wonder Stump Road with orange paint has prompted concern from some local residents that they may be slated to be cut down.

But, according to Del Norte County Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal, while the trees have caused some long-standing drainage issues in the area there are no plans to remove them.

“Someone had brought to our attention that they want to remove trees within county property, but that wasn’t something we saw happening,” Kunstal said Monday.

She said the county roads superintendent flagged trees that would be good candidates for removal, but the project hasn’t been prioritized or funded.

“It’s an opportunity for us to look at what type of options we have,” Kunstal said. “But one thing I’d like to make very clear is we all know the importance of that canopy to people in our area.”

Any proposed project to remove the trees would have to go through a public review process and be approved by the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors, Kunstal said. The county would also likely hire a professional to recommend which trees to remove, she said.

Mac Eller, who lives on Wonder Stump Road, said his father, Clyde Eller, was on the Board of Supervisors when the county purchased the “tree tunnel” in the 1990s. Mac Eller said the Board of Supervisors negotiated the purchase so those trees wouldn’t be cut down and the “vast majority of people would not want it to happen.”

District 4 Supervisor Gerry Hemmingsen said most of the trees in the Wonder Stump Road area are second-growth redwood. He said the area was once a railroad right-of-way.

According to Kunstal, the ditches along Wonder Stump Road are deep. In one area, a tree has completely encroached into a ditch, she said, and with the city's water lines traveling down the road, "it doesn't leave a whole lot of room to navigate."

Kunstal said her department would also look at "different options" and would be receptive to feedback from the public on how to address the drainage issues on Wonder Stump Road. However, "there are no plans to do it now."

Wonder Stump Road Residents Clash With County Over Proposed Improvements

The Wonder Stump Road tree tunnel.

Wonder Stump Road residents are at odds with county officials over potential improvements to a street they say is one of Del Norte's unique tourist attractions.

Those living on the road that was once part of the Hobbs Wall rail line are skeptical that potential improvements to a one-way stretch between Yonkers Bridge and U.S. 101 won't damage a beloved tree tunnel.

County officials say they're currently gathering public input on potential road improvements and are considering options that are "best for the community and the infrastructure of the road." While he won't rule out the necessity of removing one or more of the redwood trees on Wonder Stump, Roads Superintendent Jeff Daniels said the county isn't cutting all the trees down.

"People I've known ever since I was a baby are pretty upset about it and they don't need to be upset," Daniels said Tuesday, adding that he would skateboard and bicycle through the tree tunnel. "We're just looking at the drainage and infrastructure that's there."

Though people living on the street know to wait for motorists to pass them, Daniels called Wonder Stump is heavily trafficked and is "not near wide enough" for emergency vehicles, school buses and the volume of traffic that uses it.

According to Daniels, the county is using hand crews to clear the ditch that runs along one side of Wonder Stump. This, he said, is becoming dangerous for the employees climbing in and out of the ditch. The proposed project may head off any potential workman's compensation claims the county could receive, Daniels said. But the project is still in its infancy, he said.

"The community will definitely have time to voice their opinion or come up and say 'I have a suggestion,'" Daniels said, adding that he's hoping to put to rest rumors that the county is cutting down the tree tunnel "to make money." "That wouldn't be good. I wouldn't like that and neither would anybody else."

Jim Coop, a 30-year resident of Wonder Stump Road, said he doesn't believe Daniels. He said he and a neighbor had received similar assurances from the Community Development Department after county staff had marked about 100 trees on Wonder Stump. But three weeks ago, Coop said, he spoke with a surveyor working in front of his home.

"I was interested in finding out if he was out surveying property lines," Coop said Wednesday. "He said, 'No I'm out here to survey the road... for possible expansion.' He handed me one of the county's green cards and he told me this is what it's about."

The green card Coop received was a request for comment sent to residents from Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal. In a similar letter to the community Monday, Kunstal said her department is working on a "planning-level document compiling community and stakeholder input" on potential Wonder Stump improvements.

Staff is assessing current conditions, including locating trees, paved surfaces and ditches, according to Kunstal, and plans to develop "conceptual alternatives" by September or October. The county will hold stakeholder meeting for public agencies and utilities and community meetings in November or December, according to Kunstal.

Both will focus on concerns and solutions as well as pros and cons of the "conceptual alternatives," according to the letter.

After a second set of community and stakeholder meetings, county staff will draft a summary of the feedback and present the document before the Board of Supervisors in May or June 2020, according to Kunstal.

Rather than go back to the county with his concerns, Coop and his neighbor Donna Eller created a Facebook group, "Save Wonderstump," on July 12. According to Coop, the group is for neighbors, friends and concerned citizens who "greatly value this road."

"What we're trying to do is we're trying to gather alternatives to address what the county (claims) to be concerned about," he said. "We're going to really hit them with these alternatives."

As of Wednesday, the "Save Wonderstump" Facebook group has 512 members.

In addition to stating that it's no longer safe for county workers to maintain the road while allowing for motorist travel, Kunstal's letter states that the "oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic" hinders emergency vehicles and school buses. Trees along the street's paved surface and shoulders also bear scars from being hit, according to the letter.

"Wonder Stump Road is a major collector that has historically received substantial public input when the slightest hint of a potential modification to the tree canopy or roots have occurred," Kunstal writes.

“Ultimately, a summary of engagement will compile community and stakeholder feedback to assist with the development and implementation of potential improvements.”

Coop said the alternatives he and his neighbors have discussed address the county’s drainage concerns, access for school buses and emergency vehicles and making things safer for two-way traffic.

“We always had one lane,” he said. “All they have to do is put up caution signs to let people who are not familiar with the road be aware that they should yield to oncoming traffic.”

When it comes to drainage on the road, Coop said one of the proposals he and his neighbors have discussed include installing a drainage pipe and paving over it.

As for school buses, Coop said the drivers he spoke with indicating that low-lying tree branches are their biggest concern. Instead of removing the trees entirely, Coop said, county staff could trim the branches — something that would only be required roughly every five years.

Hydrants could solve the access problem for fire engines, Coop said. The main waterline runs right down Wonder Stump, he said.

“If they were to place a few more fire hydrants on the road they wouldn’t have to worry about tankers being able to get out here ‘cause they would have a water supply,” he said.

Mac Eller, Donna’s husband, said his father Clyde Eller, who opened Fort Dick Market, was a county supervisor when he and his colleague Chuck Blackburn took steps to preserve the tree tunnel. Eller said in the 12 years he has lived on it no one has complained about the road.

“I bought my house where it’s at because it’s on the tree tunnel,” he said. “I knew those trees would always be there. They’re not first-growth or anything, but it’s still a unique place for us and the county and for tourists or whomever to experience it.”

Wonder Stump Road came up at Tuesday’s Board of Supervisors meeting. Gerry Hemmingsen, whose district includes the street in question, said a lot of the information that’s going out isn’t true. He asked people to do research and contact the Community Development Department or Roads Division.

Hemmingsen’s colleague, District 2 Supervisor Lori Cowan, echoed his comments, stating that it’s not a widening project, but a drainage issue.

“They’re marking the trees, that’s what’s freaking people out,” Cowan said. “Those trees are not marked to be cut down at all. They’re marking them to understand which ones belong to the county — which ones are in the right-of-way and which ones are ... private. That is the only reason they’re being marked.”

Cowan also assured people that the board wouldn’t approve a potential project until next spring or early summer.

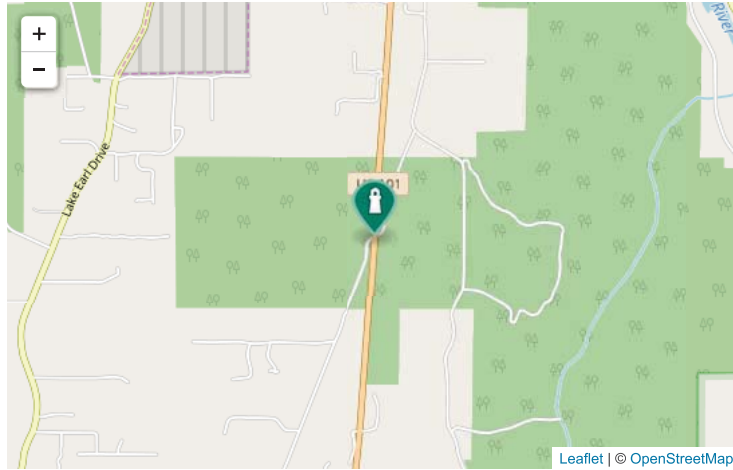

When told of their comments at Tuesday’s meeting, Eller said he didn’t believe Cowan or Hemmingsen’s statements that the Wonder Stump project wasn’t about widening the road.

“There’s no issues,” he said. “No reason to do this other than it may be a little cumbersome to clean out that ditch.”

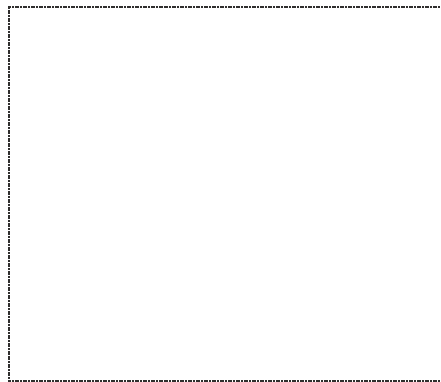

Eller also took issue with Cowan’s statement that county staff were marking trees to determine which ones were in the public right-of-way and which ones were on private property.

“Those belong to the county, there’s no doubt about it. The markers go 20-30 feet beyond the side of the road,” he said. “(The project) directly affects me and my wife and my future. I hope my father passes away before they mow all the trees down.”

Wonder Stump Road Conflict Sparks Petition

A Nevada man with ties to Del Norte has collected more than 1,200 signatures on a petition to the Board of Supervisors to leave Wonder Stump Road "the way it is."

Daniel Russ, of Reno, Nev., is aiming to get 1,500 people to sign his change.org petition. According to Wonder Stump Road resident Donna Eller, Russ started the petition at about 9 p.m. Friday and already has 1,265 signatures.

Eller created the Facebook page "Save Wonderstump" after residents received notices from the county requesting input about potential improvements on the road between Yonkers Bridge and U.S. 101. Though county officials say they haven't decided what improvements will be necessary, residents are worried they may damage a beloved tree tunnel of second-growth redwood trees.

Russ's petition describes the road and said a surveyor was observed marking trees "for removal" and when asked stated the road was being surveyed for "widening and other improvements."

"We the undersigned, realizing the historical, aesthetic and natural beauty of Del Norte County's Wonder Stump Road, wish that this road be left at its present width and condition, only being paved and maintained as necessary and little else. We do not agree to any widening of the road or removal of any islands or trees along the length of Wonder Stump Road,” the petition states.

On Monday, Eller said Russ is part of the McKay family that has lived in the Crescent City and Fort Dick area for many years. An old postcard shows a member of the McKay family sitting on top of the Wonder Stump, Eller said. She said she has been communicating with Russ via Facebook.

“He came across my Facebook page one night and we were Facebook messaging and he offered to help me out,” she said. “I had no idea where this was going.”

Wonder Stump Road was once part of the Hobbs, Wall & Co. rail line that once brought people from Crescent City to Smith River and back for 75 cents, according to a May 4, 1891 flyer.

The road was named after the Wonder Stump, remnants of a tree that was growing on top of another tree that fell more than 1,000 years ago. The Wonder Stump, which had been logged before 1900, was a tourist attraction for more than 50 years, according to an Aug. 1, 2009 article in the Curry Coastal Pilot by Arwyn Rice.

“It wasn’t the biggest, or carved into a house, and cars couldn’t drive through it, but it was the most unusual,” Rice wrote.

The tree was featured in advertising, Ripley’s Believe It or Not and in National Geographic magazine, according to a newspaper clipping from the Del Norte County Historical Society.

In a July 22 letter to county residents, Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal said her department is working on a “planning-level document compiling community and stakeholder input” on potential improvements to Wonder Stump.

According to Kunstal’s letter, Wonder Stump Road is not safe for workers to continue to maintain while allowing for motorist travel. Meanwhile, the “oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic” hinders emergency vehicles and school buses.

Staff is assessing current conditions, including where the trees are located and will develop further plans by September or October, according to Kunstal. The county will hold public meetings in November or December, according to the letter.

Following a second set of public meetings, county staff will present a summary of the feedback it received to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors in May or June 2020.

Despite Kunstal’s letter, Wonder Stump Road residents were skeptical that the county had no intention of damaging the tree tunnel. Jim Coop, a 30-year Wonder Stump Road resident, told the Wild Rivers Outpost last week that he had spoken with a surveyor whose information contradicted assurances he had received from the county after staff had marked about 100 trees last year.

“I was interested in finding out if he was out surveying property lines,” Coop said. “He said, ‘N I’m out here to survey the road... for possible expansion.’”

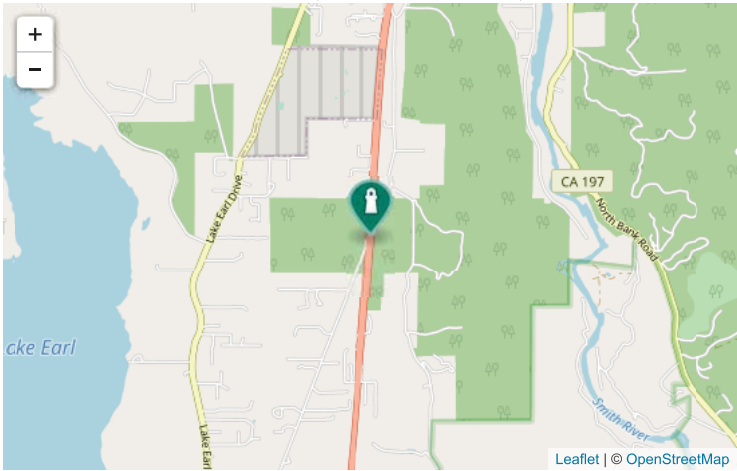

So far, the Facebook group “Save Wonderstump” has 717 members.

As for Russ’s petition, it’s getting signatures from people from around the country, Eller said.

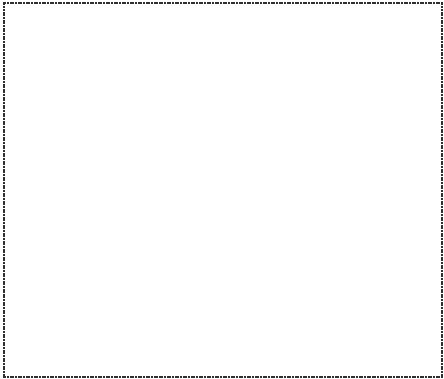

“They’ve come here on vacation or they used to live here and have since moved away,” she said. “People have various reasons for signing it.”

Before bringing the signed petition before the Board of Supervisors, Eller said she plans to circulate a petition among Wonder Stump Road residents and another for Del Norte County residents. She said she's hoping for a show of force at a future Board of Supervisors meeting.

"We'll have those petitions at the farmers market and at the Mailroom and at various places where people can sign them," she said. "There's a lot of passion to save the history here and the beauty."

DEL NOTRE, Calif. — Almost two thousand people have signed a petition to save Wonder Stump Road in Crescent City. Their Facebook group has over 700 members, all to stop the county from possibly cutting down the redwood trees.

ndent Jeff Daniels said the road needs

Residents of Wonder Stump think otherwise, saying they have never once seen a safety issue. One resident named Jeannie Reitterer was a bus driver for Del Norte County for nine years. She would drive up and down Wonder Stump Road four times a day and said she's never encountered a hazard.

"I never had an issues with a redwood branch hitting my bus," Reitterer said. "I had issues with other branches and vegetation hitting the side of the bus. Typically when that happens, we radio it in, dispatch calls the roads department, and the roads department comes and trims that branch."

Although it's a one-way road, residents explained there's not a lot of traffic on this road, so people tend to be patient.

"We want to do as least as possible to achieve the goal and the goal is to fix the drainage and collect whatever may come off whatever property," Daniels said. "That's what surveyors are out here for. You can't just put a pipe in and the water that will typically drain is not draining anymore."

Many residents on Wonder Stump Road say that widening the road and changing things would cause more problems. They even say if the road were to widen, it would bring in more traffic because it's parallel between Highway 101 and Lake Earl Drive.

"There is nothing like it, anywhere," Susan McKay, another Wonder Stump resident said. "Once you change it, it's gone."

When a decision is made, it will be debated upon many people.

People will be gathering at the Board of Supervisors meeting in Del Norte on Aug. 13, 2019.

Residents Stumped: Some along Wonder Stump Road fear county's plans

By David Hayes Staff Writer

Over the years, residents of Wonder Stump Road have expressed concerns that Del Norte County officials are moving toward an unnecessary widening of the road, all the while receiving assurances no such plan is in motion.

Their biggest ongoing concern, the say, is actions the county is taking without first notifying the residents.

"First, they started counting cars," said Mac Eller, who's lived on Wonder Stump Road, which is 3 to 4 miles from the north Crescent City line, since 2007. "Nobody said they were going to do that. They marked the trees. Nobody said a word about that to us in advance."

When residents discovered the orange paint blots on trees along the lane in 2018, marking them for potential removal, Del Norte County Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal said at the time that the county's roads superintendent flagged the trees as candidates for removal but that the project had neither been prioritized nor funded.

"It's an opportunity for us to look at what type of options we have," she told The Triplicate on June 19, 2018. "But one thing I'd like to make very clear is, we all know the importance of that canopy to people in our area."

Jump ahead a year, when a surveyor showed up along Wonder Stump Road on July 12 without notice. Eller said he asked him why he was surveying the road and was told it was in case the county wants to widen it.

Residents' fears peaked when they received a July 22 letter from the county seeking to "thoroughly discuss community and stakeholder concerns and solutions and the pros and cons of potential improvements to the County's property better known as Wonder Stump Road."

The letter outlined a process, including meetings and studies, to be completed by June 30, 2020. The result would be a summary of engagement that could be adopted by the Board of County Supervisors at that time.

Kunstal last week declined to comment further, saying she had nothing to add that wasn't in the letter sent to the residents.

Wonderstump Road, which is about 2 miles long, got its name after an enormous, 1,500-year-old redwood toppled, and over the next 3,500 years another redwood grew up, over and around the original.

The upper portion of the growth was logged in the 1800s, leaving behind an unusual stump growth that remains to this day near Eller's property.

The lane itself features redwoods along both sides, creating a canopy effect.

"To make this two lanes, you're going to have to take out a bunch of trees, which will ruin the aesthetics of our little tree tunnel," Eller said. "And the speed limit will go from 25 to 45, (which is) not a good idea with people pulling out of their driveways."

The county's letter also cited its concern for trees being damaged by passing vehicles. But the local residents insist such accidents, few in number, have involved vehicles running into or clipping a tree as the result of operator error, not due to the trees' close proximity.

"The county also says one of the concerns is for emergency vehicles," said local resident Jim Coop. "In the 30 years I've lived here, I've seen maybe a handful (of emergency vehicles), and never a problem. Same with school buses. No problems.

"And they say this is a heavily trafficked road? Oh, my God! That is such a crock!"

On the other hand, said Coop, simply changing the lane's signage would be an easy fix for some of the perceived problems.

"At each end of the tunnel is a squiggly arrow with an 'island ahead' sign," he said. "Well, who cares about that sign? Just put up signs saying 'turn your lights on, 25 miles per hour, one-way traffic yield to oncoming traffic.' And that's all you've got to do."

Coop also disputes the county's stated concerns of roots overgrowing the ditches. "I can remember taking my kids, when we first got out here, walking up and down the tree tunnel," he said. "We noticed there were roots in the ditches. In 30 years, they might have grown 2 inches."

What's more, said Coop, he's spoken with a local bus driver who said her only concern navigating the tree tunnel was low-hanging branches that brushed her lights.

Area residents also dispute the county's letter that, "It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone."

As long-time residents, they said, they've grown accustomed to navigating the narrow lane with the sparse traffic it receives. "That's the highlight of my day," Donna Eller said. "When I wait for a car or someone waits for me, to smile and wave to somebody might be the only encounter I have with somebody all day.

"And it's always a friendly encounter."

Residents said they've have reached out to public officials and in return have received mixed messages. Eller said he's been told in conversations so much conflicting information that he's reached the point he doesn't know what to believe.

"I understand the need for the county to do research to determine whether or not we do need to put in a culvert or not," Eller said. "But you know what? They're just not being forthcoming.

"They're not being 'transparent,' is the key word with me."

One solution proposed by local residents to address the perceived danger their narrow lane presents to fire emergency vehicles is to install fire hydrants along the route. A city water main runs the length of Wonder Stump, they said.

"They want us to come up with solutions? None of us are engineers," said Eller. "We just live here. But that's one (solution) right there."

As for the county's concerns about flooding, said Eller, he's never experienced flooding issues in the dozen years he's lived there. "So building a culvert along the road to address flooding doesn't make sense, either."

In a heavy storm, Wonder Stump Road can become covered with a thick blanket of pine needles. The clean-up can clog the adjoining ditches. But that's simply a maintenance issue, said the nearby residents. They've never seen the road blocked or impassable.

"I want to be proactive," said Eller, "and not reactive after they've gone in and done what they're going to do."

Meantime, their message has reached outside the state's borders. Daniel Russ, now living in Sparks, Nevada, has had family ties to the Wonder Stump community dating back to the 1800s. When he heard of the community's concerns through the Facebook page Save Wonderstump, he contacted the page's creator, Donna Eller, to brainstorm ways to get their message a wider audience.

"I decided to start a petition, to see what would happen," Russ said.

Found at <https://bit.ly/2ZCCaOp>, his petition caught the attention of people from beyond the region, with the number of signatures currently nearing 4,000. "Personally, I didn't expect to get 100," Russ said.

The group's plan is to present the petition, with an organized front by the residents, during the next County Board of Supervisors meeting, on Aug. 13.

At the same time, Mac Eller said, given the current alignment of the county's board, he fears the landowners' concerns will fall on deaf ears.

If that happens, said Coop, "I'll invite in groups like the Sierra Club and the Save the Redwoods Organization.

"I never thought I'd approach that level of activism. But I know we won't have any problem at all finding groups in Humboldt County to come up here and support our efforts to maintain the road the way it is right now."

He mused that he hadn't thought he'd have anything in common with the stereotypical "treehugger." "Whenever I saw somebody protesting on TV, I was like, 'Get a life. Don't you work?'

"Well, here we are. We're making a stand because it means something to us.

"If you allow for more traffic, we're going to get more traffic. If you remove the trees, you remove what makes Wonder Stump Lane special."

"One of the neighbors said the tree tunnel is where the trees hold hands for us to pass through together," said Donna Eller, "forever in peace."

Del Norte Supervisors say they have no plans for Wonder Stump Road

August 18, 2019

DEL NORTE COUNTY, Ca (KIEM) – Del Norte County residents raise concerns over rumors that the County is going to cut down trees on Wonder Stump Road. The Board of Supervisors says that's not the case.

At a recent Board of Supervisors meeting, the representatives wanted to make it clear that the County is only asking for public input. According to them, no project is put in place to cut down any trees. They need a solution on what they should do about road maintenance.

"We want to hear from you about what you enjoy about Wonder Stomp Road. More importantly, about the aesthetic qualities that attract so many people to want to live in that area. We as a County and more importantly, we as a Roads Department want to know from you what you wish to have happened with Wonder Stomp Road," said 3rd District Supervisor Chris Howard.

To find out how you can give your public input on what to do with Wonder Stump Road, contact the Del Norte County Counsel at (707) 464 – 7208.

FORT DICK, Calif. — Wonder Stump Road passes beneath a canopy of needled redwood boughs that scatter sunbeams and cast an otherworldly green hue.

A drive along the narrow one-lane road is quiet. Tranquil.

But these days, terse hand-painted signs poke out from driveways of homes tucked in the woods.

We like our trees right where they ARE

LEAVE OUR TREES ALONE!!

In this sparsely populated, economically depressed northwest corner of California, people don't have the tourist attractions that urbanites brag about. There are no five-star restaurants, no world-famous museums or amusement parks, no nightlife scene.

What people do have to boast about are trees — California's iconic coast redwoods, the tallest trees on Earth. Wonder Stump Road is lined on both sides by them.

Los Angeles Times

In a region transformed by logging over the last century, residents have long worried that someone is going to come along and chop down the so-called tree tunnel of Wonder Stump Road. Those fears were heightened last year when county workers marked scores of trees with bright orange paint.

“It means a lot to us, and it should mean a lot to everybody,” said Bryan Stanley, who has lived on Wonder Stump for two decades. “The trees are the lungs of the world, and if we lose those, we’re all gone.”

People here aren't exactly tree huggers. Del Norte County is blue-collar country, where people talk seriously about carving a separate State of Jefferson out of California's rural, conservative northern counties, and where loggers and fishermen have long bristled at government regulations.

"My family, we're staunch conservatives. We're not anti-logging or anything, but these trees don't need to go," said Mac Eller, a correctional sergeant at nearby Pelican Bay State Prison who has lived on Wonder Stump for 13 years.

By the standards of a Los Angeles freeway, Wonder Stump Road — a 2.5-mile scenic byway between Crescent City and the tiny community of Fort Dick — is practically deserted. But in a mailer to residents this summer, Del Norte County officials called the road a "major collector" on which two-way traffic, including emergency vehicles and school buses, overwhelmed the one-lane road.

County officials said tree and root growth had made the road difficult to maintain and that crews would be assessing the road for potential changes. Whether the road will be widened or redwoods will be cut down is yet to be determined.

Residents say the county has been dismissive of their concerns. And one of the prevailing theories is that road crews complaining about how difficult it is to clean the road just don't appreciate the value of old-fashioned hard work anymore.

"It just bugs me because it seems like they're going to come out here one day and start working and nobody will have anything to say about it," Stanley said.

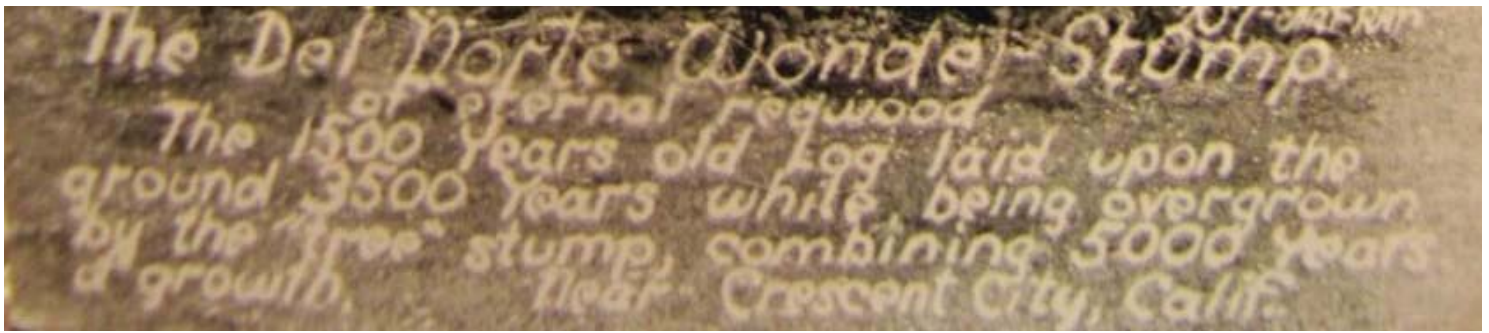

Del Norte County Supervisor Gerry Hemmingsen said there had been "all kinds of rumors," including that the county is going to sell the redwoods to the Japanese city of Rikuzentakata, which formed a sister city partnership with Crescent City after a 2011 earthquake and tsunami sent a barnacle-covered Japanese fishing boat across the Pacific Ocean that washed ashore in Crescent City two years later.

“I don’t know where all this information comes from,” Hemmingsen said. “It’s kind of comical at times. We don’t want to see the road deteriorate so bad that we can’t operate on it.”

Hemmingsen said the road had drainage problems and that fixes needed to be made “before it completely erodes the road away.” County road crews have a tough time using mechanized equipment on Wonder Stump and spend an inordinate amount of time cleaning it, he said.

Hemmingsen said it’s possible the county could add a culvert pipe and “widen the road a bit so you can’t drive down into the ditch and make it a little safer.”

William McKay, who worked as a logger, is pictured atop the so-called Wonder Stump in Del Norte County in this undated postcard. His granddaughter, Susan McKay, grew up on Wonder Stump Road and worries about the fate of the trees there. (Provided by Susan McKay)

“There has been no talk of cutting down all the trees. ... Evidently there’s a lot of mistrust in the government out there,” he said.

Virtually all coast redwoods grow in a narrow, fog-laden strip from Big Sur to southern Oregon. After the California Gold Rush, 95% of the original coast redwood forest was logged, according to Save the Redwoods League, a century-old conservation group.

Today, some 45% of the world’s protected old-growth redwood forests are in Del Norte and Humboldt counties within the boundaries of Redwood National and State Parks, a complex that includes Redwoods National Park, and Jedediah Smith, Del Norte Coast and Prairie Creek redwoods state parks, according to Save the Redwoods.

The redwoods of Wonder Stump Road grow just outside those boundaries, about a mile west of Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park, and have fewer protections than those in the parks.

As second-growth trees — meaning they’re growing in a place that has been logged at least once — the Wonder Stump trees are practically babies compared with some 2,000-year-old coast redwoods.

That doesn’t make them any less special to residents, who say the county has been evasive.

A summer letter from Del Norte County Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal — which began, “You may have heard” the county was gathering public input on “potential improvements” — was dated July 22 and said that road assessment had begun three weeks earlier. It was the first written communication to property owners about possible changes to the road.

Asked by The Times why trees were marked with orange paint last year, Kunstal said: “It doesn’t really matter. It really wasn’t anything. ... The markings on the trees, they have no relevancy to what may or may not happen.”

Kunstal told the Del Norte Triplicate last year that the county’s road superintendent had marked the trees as candidates for removal but that a project had not been prioritized or funded.

Before being converted to a road, Wonder Stump was part of a rail line built in the early 1900s by the Hobbs, Wall & Co. timber company. The street is named after remnants of a massive redwood felled by loggers that had grown atop an older 8-foot-wide tree that had fallen more than a thousand years earlier, according to the Del Norte County Historical Society.

A Change.org petition asking for the trees along Wonder Stump to be left alone has more than 5,300 signatures.

“They know people get their panties in a bunch when we talk about this stuff,” Eller said.

Eller said his father, Clyde Eller, a former county supervisor, helped preserve the trees years ago by pushing the county to purchase its right of way because a timber company planned to cut the trees down.

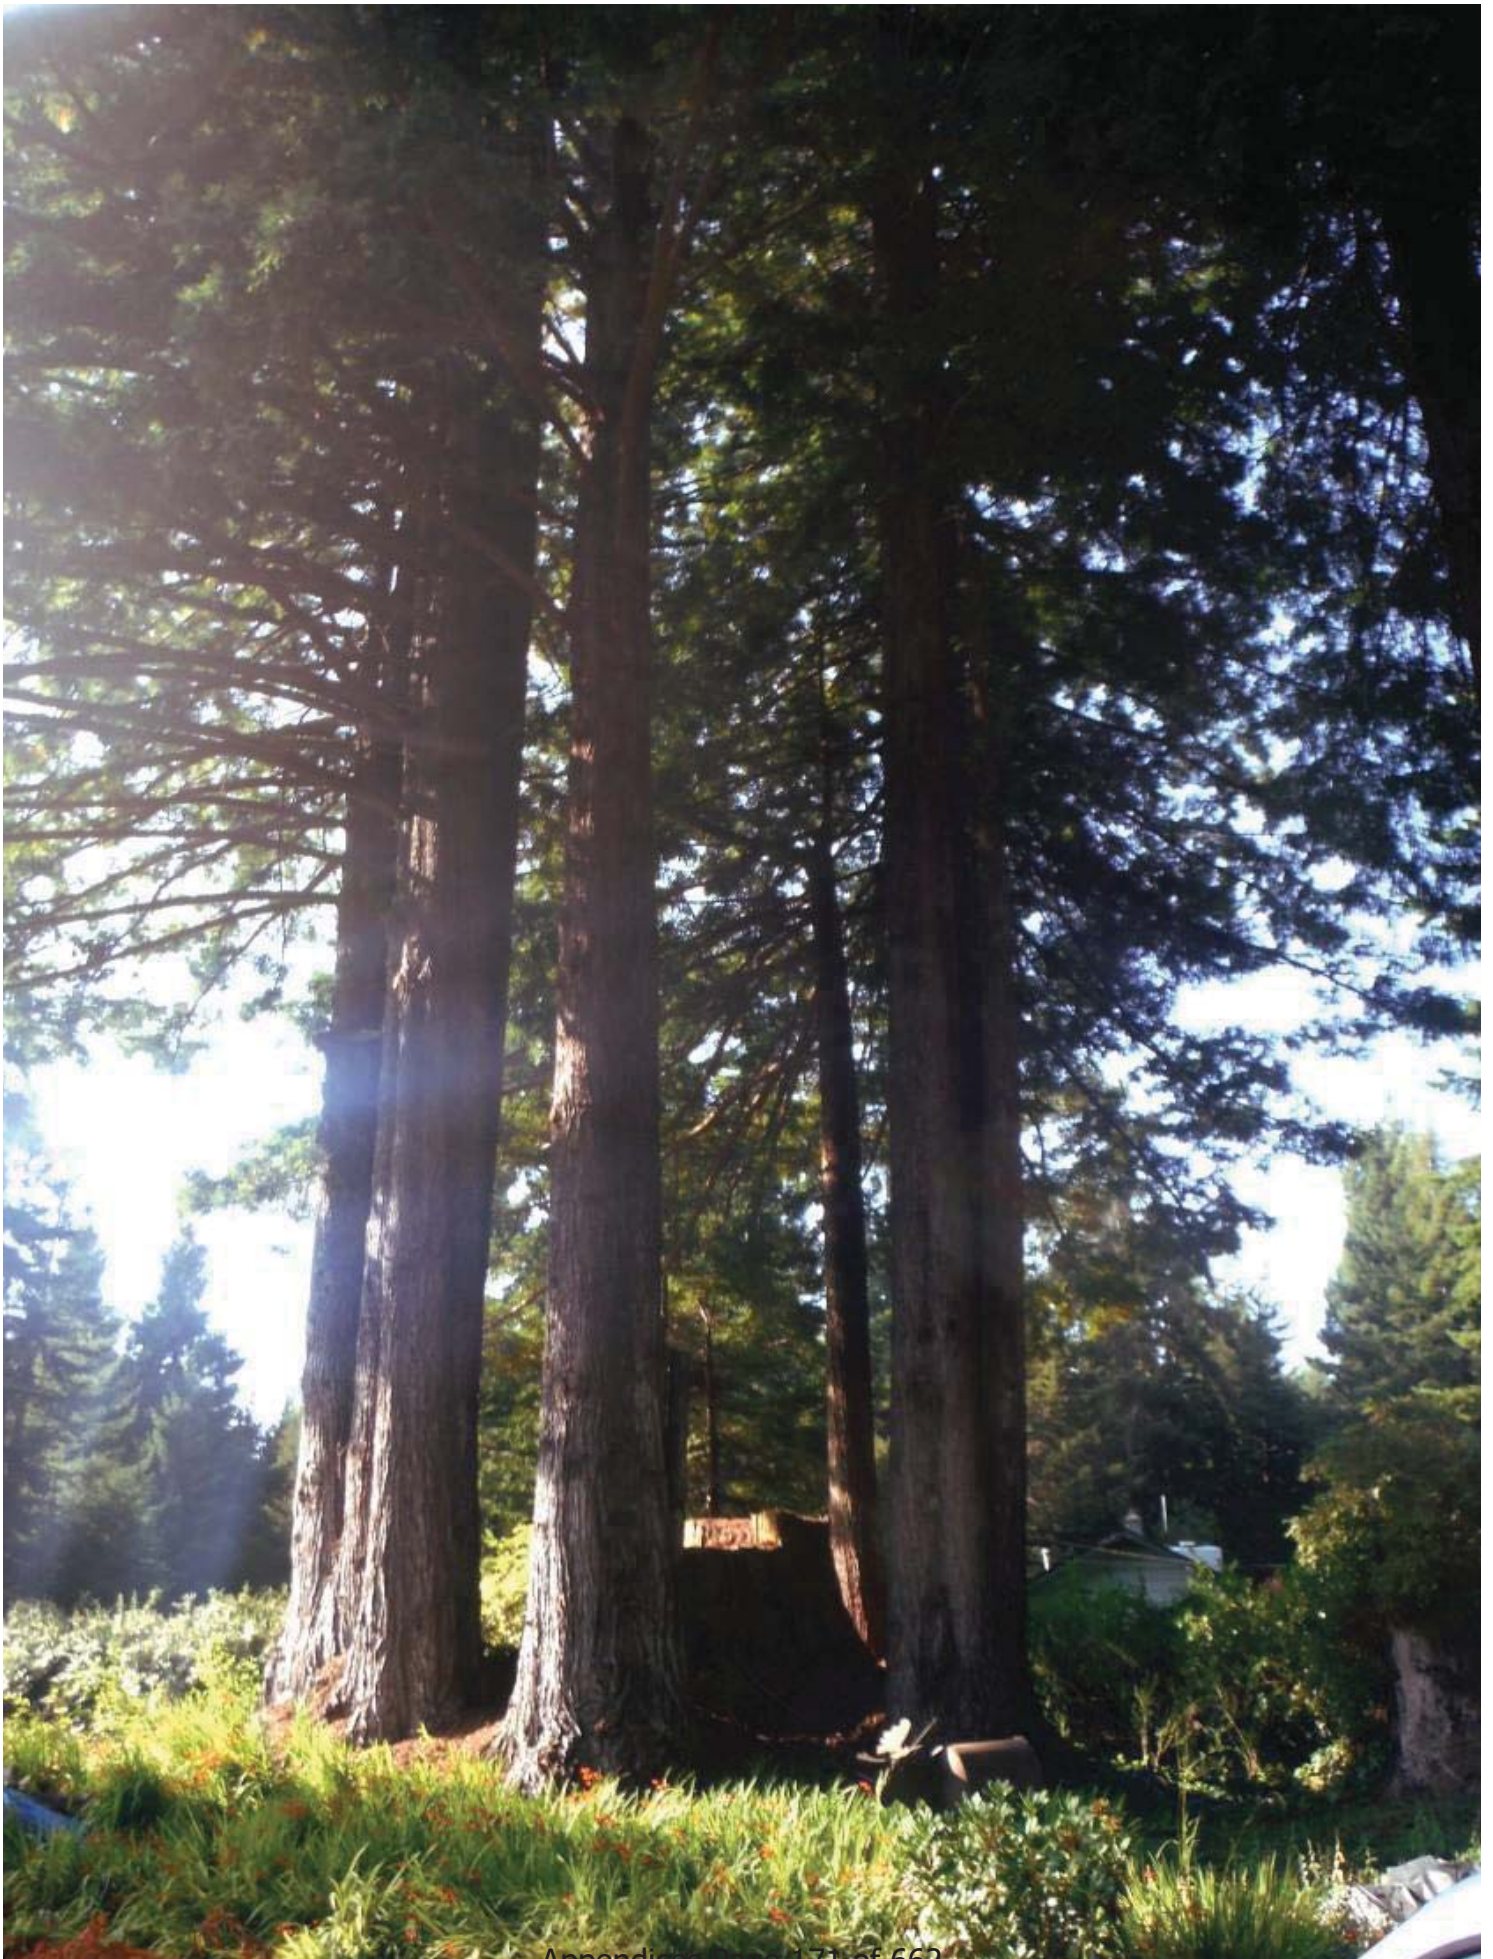

“My dad used to be a logger. ... He had no problem cutting a tree down. His family used to hunt to live. They were poor and did whatever they had to do to survive,” Eller said.

“And now, well, this road. He’s always liked the road, and it was unique and something our county had that was special.”

Eller’s wife, Donna, cares for her 96-year-old mother, who has Alzheimer’s and rarely leaves home. She cherishes the chance to wave at drivers pulling over to let her pass on the narrow road.

“We just wave at each other and smile and go on,” she said. “Sometimes, it could be days that I don’t get out of the house, and that interaction with someone is the only interaction I have. ... I always think, they’re driving south, where are they going to end up?”

Her property includes a fairy ring, a group of redwoods growing in a tight circle around the stump of a logged tree. Her grandkids picnic there.

Jeannie Reitterer, a retired Del Norte County school bus driver who lives on Wonder Stump, said she was frustrated the county was “using the school buses as an excuse” because she spent years driving a bus on the road four times a day and never had problems.

Reitterer said she also didn’t buy that emergency vehicles couldn’t get through. She’s had to call an ambulance three times — including once when her son fell out of a redwood tree and a branch pierced his back (he recovered just fine, she said) — and they got there within minutes, she said.

This summer, Reitterer said, a county worker was near her property with a surveyor’s tripod, and she asked him what he was doing. He told her they were just looking, but she remains suspicious.

“They’re being very vague,” she said. “It’s small-town politics and really hush-hush ... and that’s the scariest part about it. If they would just be honest and tell us what their intentions were, it would be more understandable. But they’re not.”

Susan McKay, who grew up on Wonder Stump, said she didn’t believe county officials truly appreciated “how unique and beautiful it is.”

“It has a magical feel to it,” she said. “Once it’s gone, it’s gone.”

In an undated black-and-white photograph, her grandfather, William McKay, is a young man clutching a rifle, perched atop — and dwarfed by — the original Wonder Stump. He was a logger, as was his father and his son, Susan McKay said. The image was made into a postcard decades ago, when the stump was a tourist attraction, she said.

Wonder Stump Road, she said, is a place of peace that needs to remain. It inspires poetry in her, including this haiku:

Notice while driving

Down the canopy of trees

The peace in your heart.

Following Media Coverage, Wonder Stump Road Residents Set Sights On Community Meeting

Their street has drawn media coverage and spawned petition signatures and Facebook posts from across the country. Now Wonder Stump Road residents are setting their sights on a public meeting.

Despite the attention, including an article (https://www.latimes.com/california/story/2019-11-11/in-del-norte-county-a-fight-over-the-redwoods-of-wonder-stump-road?fbclid=IwAR0gWpMbV9vUIwXXpMgKDZUbBV5MFNuxs89NJwzaCdh11B_zi845sKY0Nvg) in the Los Angeles Times that also appeared in the San Jose Mercury News, Donna Eller said she and her neighbors aren't sure what the county's plans are for the canopy of redwoods that shelters their road. She told the Outpost that she hopes to get answers from county staff on Dec. 12.

Eller also hopes to get as many people to show up as possible.

"I just don't know if there's a developer," she told the Wild Rivers Outpost. "I still say there's a reason we're not finding out about (it)... We're just not being told anything."

Del Norte County is holding its first community meeting roughly five months after Community Development staff asked Wonder Stump Road residents for comment potential improvements to the area between Yonkers Bridge and U.S. 101.

Appendices Page 174 of 662

In the July 22, 2019 letter, Community Development Director Heidi Kunstal told residents that maintaining the road while allowing for motorist travel is no longer safe for workers. The “oversize one-lane road serving two-way traffic” hinders emergency vehicles and school buses. Trees along the street’s paved surface and shoulders also bear scars from being hit, according to the letter.

Roads superintendent Jeff Daniels told the Outpost in July that the county has no intentions of harming Wonder Stump’s tree tunnel.

In July, staff began assessing current road conditions on Wonder Stump. Preliminary “conceptual alternatives” were anticipated in September or October and stakeholder and community meetings were planned for November and December, according to Kunstal’s letter.

On Monday, Kunstal told the Outpost via email that the process for preparing the planning document hasn’t changed.

“We look forward to gathering more public input,” she told the Outpost.

Even though the county’s plans for Wonder Stump Road have yet to be determined, Eller founded the Save Wonderstump Facebook group shortly after receiving Kunstal’s letter in July. It currently has more than 1,100 members, she said, who use it as a place to update those who are interested as well as to share ideas from other communities that have faced similar issues.

In addition to the Facebook group, Daniel Russ, a Reno, Nevada man with ties to Del Norte, started a change.org petition. In July, Russ told the Outpost his goal was to get 1,500 people to sign.

On Monday, Eller said nearly 5,800 people have signed it. The petition also has about 6,000 supporters, she said.

“They are from all over the country,” she said. “They are people from literally all over the country that have come here to vacation. This is one of their ritual stops where they come.”

Wonder Stump Road was once part of the Hobbs, Wall & Co. rail line that brought people from Crescent City to Smith River and back for 75 cents, according to a May 4, 1891 flyer.

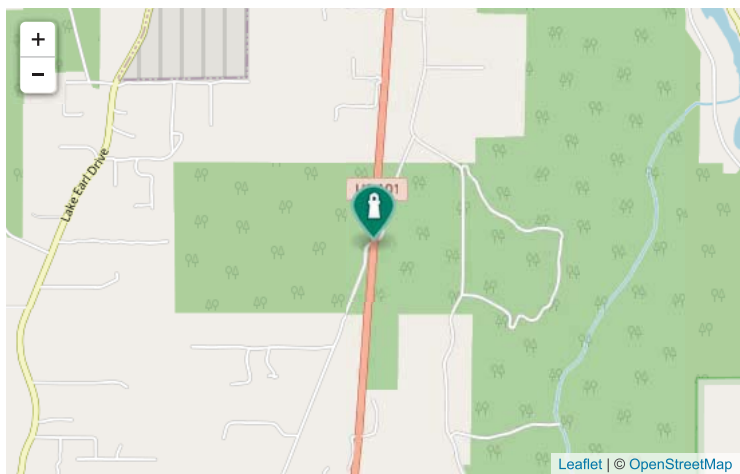

The road was named after the Wonder Stump, remnants of a tree that was growing on top of another tree that fell more than 1,000 years ago. The Wonder Stump had been a tourist attraction for more than 50 years, according to an Aug. 1, 2009 article in the Curry Coastal Pilot by Arwyn Rice.

Following a second set of public meetings, county staff will present a summary of the feedback it received to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors in May or June 2020.

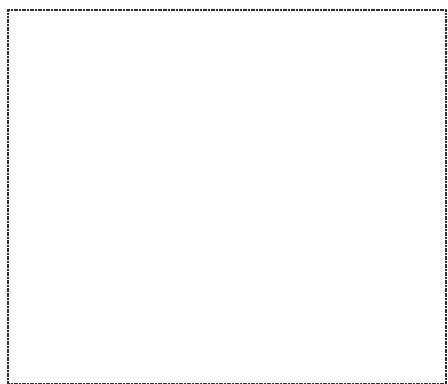

The county’s public meeting will be held from 4:30 p.m.-6 p.m. Dec. 12 at the Crescent Fire Protection District fire hall, 255 Washington Boulevard in Crescent City.

People can also provide input on potential Wonder Stump Road improvements via the Del Norte Transportation Commission’s crowdsourcing tool (<https://delnortetransportation.commonplace.is/>) as well as online surveys (https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1ccHrB-YcWwRoFe8nl8mBO4kI1rsvinQpPKlgkrKmBlw/viewform?edit_requested=true). A comment card can also be sent to the Community Development Department at 981 H Street, Suite 110; Crescent City, CA 95531.

Rosanna,

Below is the wording of the petition submitted on the issue of Wonder Stump Road. If you need anything that I can provide, please feel free to email me at this address.

Thank you,

Daniel Russ

This is a petition to the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors to halt these plans, as we believe it will forever alter the beauty of this stretch of the road.

“We the undersigned, realizing the historical, aesthetic, and natural beauty of Del Norte County’s Wonder Stump Road, wish that this road be left at it’s present width and condition, only being paved and maintained as necessary and little else. We do not agree to the widening of the road or the removal of any islands or trees along the length of Wonder Stump Road.”

Recipient: Lori Cowan, Chair Del Norte County Board of Supervisors, Roger Gitlin, Chris Howard, Gary Hemmingsten, Bob Berkowitz

Letter: Greetings,

Supervisor,

This is the petition asking for the Del Norte board of Supervisors to direct Del Norte county employees to Leave redwood lined Wonder Stump Road the way it is!

It is not only a beautiful rural road, but it's scenic beauty should not be lost.

It is loved by the residents, family members, locals and tourists alike.

Please heed the will of the residents in your decision and leave this road as it is.

Thank you!

Recipient: Lori Cowan, Chair Del Norte County Board of Supervisors, Roger Gitlin, Chris Howard, Gary Hemmingsten, Bob Berkowitz

Letter: Greetings,

Supervisor,

This is the petition asking for the Del Norte board of Supervisors to direct Del Norte county employees to Leave redwood lined Wonder Stump Road the way it is!

It is not only a beautiful rural road, but it's scenic beauty should not be lost.

It is loved by the residents, family members, locals and tourists alike.

Please heed the will of the residents in your decision and leave this road as it is.

Thank you!

Sandra Hansen	GRANTS PASS, OR	2019-07-26	"I grew up near this and it is too beautiful and pristine to disturb"
Victoria Ahuna	Crescent City, US	2019-07-26	"It is a beautiful place and should be preserved."
Donna Alpaugh	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"Don't cut down the redwoods on scenic Wonderstump road. It's beautiful and worth saving."
Billie Jean Rowell	Gilliam, LA	2019-07-27	"I grew up in Del Norte. Wonderstump is the epitome of the peace and tranquility that brings people to the county to visit and to live."
Melody Pampell	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"Let's keep this beautiful road exactly as it is."
Donna Eller	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"This road is beautiful and we don't want it changed destroyed our cut down. Creating a 2 lane road will make this street a bypass for 101 and Lake Earl thereby causing heavy speeding traffic. It is a tourist attraction and every year draws many out of state people to view our beautiful redwoods and ultimately they end up going to town and supporting our local businesses."
Debora Hogg	Ft Walton Bch, FL	2019-07-27	"Enough damage has been done to the natural beauty of the area. Leave the road alone!"
Michele Carlson	beaverton, OR	2019-07-27	"I grew up in Crescent City and the redwoods r majestic and beautiful and should be saved"
Charlotte Einboden	Seattle, WA	2019-07-27	"Charlotte Einboden"
Venetia Smith	US	2019-07-27	"America has cut down way too many trees. They have destroyed nature for development. Animals are displaced and then fo into extinction. We are the ones to help that not happen. PLEASENDO JOT DESTROY THE BEAUTY OF THESE TREES!"
mary Hamilton	Redmond, WA	2019-07-27	"To protect the beauty of this land"
Victoria Graves	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"My family bought our property on Wonderstump because of the astounding beauty of this road. We have been in our home just 2 years and it has been a constant battle to save the Redwoods between pressure to sell from loggers and county politics."
Lisa Heyer	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"Wonder Stump Road is a beautiful, historic drive that locals and tourists both love. There is very little traffic and we would hate to lose this last lane where everyone is still friendly and waves at each other! Please leave it alone!"

Karen Rose	Olympia, WA	2019-07-27	" It is inconceivable how anyone could be so foolish, short sighted and cruel to think murdering these beautiful, life giving, sacred trees would make any human's life better.. We need more trees, not less! Trees are not things, they are alive and they communicate with each other. They provide the very air we breathe. Curses on anyone who dares harm those magnificent beings," yard. I've watched, for many years as our county officials have made subtle attempts and play with symantecs as they make attempts to tear down something we have all grown to love. Its time we settle this issue once and for all. Concerning Wonder Stump, it certainly sounds as though the people are speaking loud and clear. Our county officials might want to take notice when making decisions that benefit themselves and not their constituents."

Heidi McNaughtan	Vancouver, WA	2019-07-27	"I was born and raised in that town, that area is historic, let it be."
Catrinka Hocking	Vallejo, CA	2019-07-27	"It's a beautiful road with beautiful trees and my Aunt and many more people want it to stay that way!"
Melissa Jeppesen	Hamilton, MT	2019-07-27	"Grew up there was back last month for vacation and wonderstump was one of the places I made sure to take my husband."
Steven Perez	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-27	"Of all the really serious maintenance issues facing the county and they focus on Wonder Stump Road? The Board of Supervisors really have this wrong. Our county office on 9th Street looks like a dump 90% of the time from the street. Focus on maintenance of our parks, baseball fields, etc. Those are maintenance projects that benefit the whole community."
Elaine Chiosso	Pittsboro, NC	2019-07-27	"I just visited the California redwoods - the value to your county in tourism dollars far exceeds the benefit of a road."
Marie Stratoudakis	Vallejo, CA	2019-07-27	"The road does not need widening. People need to slow down and enjoy its beauty."
Yvonne Cipressi	Portland, OR	2019-07-27	"I used to walk that lane. It is beautiful and tranquil. It would be a shame to change any part of it."
Tami Lallo	Medford, OR	2019-07-27	"Widening and paving this beautiful stretch of rural road will completely destroy the natural beauty there. I know what it looks like there and how beautiful it truly is firsthand because this is my hometown. There's no reason to widen it and there's absolutely no reason to pave it! LEAVE IT IN IT'S NATURAL STATE!"

Marie-Elena Biggers	Gasquet, CA	2019-07-27	"This is a beautiful piece of Del Norte. Will it cost more to change the name to Mediocre Stump Road?"
Vanessa Henson	Los Osos, CA	2019-07-27	"I grew up on this road. The beauty of it is not matched anywhere. Removing the trees and widening the road will completely destroy the very essence of what makes it special. Frosty Lane is off of Wonderstump Rd and is named after my grandmother. Please don't remove the old growth redwoods that line this amazing rd."
DeVonna Nascimento	US	2019-07-27	"Please don't cut these old growth Redwoods! There are enough forests being cut down in the name of "progress". We need to keep the redwood forest alive!"
Lorita yoshisato	Vallejo, CA	2019-07-27	"It would be a tragedy to lose these trees"

Jane Miller	Forest Grove, US	2019-07-28	"This is an enchanted road for our next generation to enjoy ' the natural beauty we grew up in. If it is destroyed, it will disappear forever. 💎 Please save these PRICELESS gems 💎"
Lilith Waterworth	Walnut Grove, CA	2019-07-28	"It's magical and needs to be preserved. I am non-religious, and felt God the first time I visited this site. Please don't destroy!"
Donna Eller	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-28	"Your statement gave me chills. I feel the same way every time I go through there and look at the nature We have been blessed with"
Amber Cron	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-28	"I'm signing because the decision to widen a road should be thoroughly discussed with those who actually live on the road. If it needs to be widened because of excessive traffic caused by tourists driving the road for the scenic qualities, cutting down the trees to make it wider will be useless, because folks who don't live on the road won't drive it anymore."
chris mcmullin	crescent city, CA	2019-07-28	"I would like Wonderstump to remain the scenic country road that it is. The tunnel of trees is unique."
Donna Eller	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-28	"Priceless for sure. Thanks Jane"
Jean McManus	Gasquet, CA	2019-07-28	"I was born and raised in the community and am currently living on Wonder Stump. It truly is a beautiful sight and has been here without major incidents as far back as I can remember. Wonder Stump Rd is a part of Del Norte County's history."

Coley Duncan	US	2019-07-28	"Follow the money. Someone wants to get paid for widening the road, but more importantly, someone is after those trees. Years ago the US Army Corps of Engineers wanted trees cleared to create a navigable waterway through a bayou near Sterlington, Louisiana. The contractor who did the job bid $1. He used an enormous crane on a barge to pull cypress trees like pulling weeds. He had an enormous pile of cypress trees ~30 feet high and covering a large area. Rumor was that he cleared well over a million dollars on the job. If this job goes forward, you can bet they will clear a WIDE easement on either side. If they can get away with it, you will have enough room to land a 747 on this road. They want the trees because they are very valuable for the lumber, and they cannot take them unless they are pursuing a legitimate government interest. Everything else they say is just an excuse. That is my opinion."
James Schlotter	Crescent City, CA	2019-07-28	"there are more pressing items for the county to be pursuing than the further denigration of this place's uniqueness. Is the Maintenance Dept. low on projects? Rather than following one person's mis-guided seizures, talk (!) to residents: they can give lots of work options, County should go 'improve' something else."

Albert George Olson	Crescent City, Afghanistan	2019-07-31	"In 1926, a book was published which pictured the Wonder Stump and its unique characteristics. Wonder Stump Road was also featured in a documentary film of a Japanese man that traveled across the United States on roller skates. A memorably part of that film was the trip down Wonder Stump Road. In 1971, my wife traveled with her family from Saskatchewan, Canada, using a travel guide which was obtained in Canada. This guide led the family to Del Norte County and highlighted Wonder Stump Road. My wife was so impressed with the sight that she dreamed how wonderful it it would be to live here or near such a wonderful site. She now

Ryne Luecht	Huntley, IL	2019-08-04	"Everyone in the world needs a reminder just how small and minuscule we are to a tree, but these trees are extremely vital for humankind, there are some trees that are 5,000 years old. That's easily over 200 generations that these trees have kept life alive in the territory. DO NOT CUT DOWN THE TREES! Loss of trees means no home for animals. Then we have more risk of extinct animals in the world caused not by nature but by us. The same goes for the amazon forest. Keep your hands and machines away from it. There is a reason why men like John Muir, founded the Sierra Club, an organization devoted to protecting the environment. Teddy Roosevelt was also another figure who realized just how important and extremely delicate these lands are."

RE: Wonderstump Project

Dear Director Kunstal:

At the November 13, 2019 Wonderstump Stakeholder meeting, the County requested the City to send a letter regarding any concerns for the Wonderstump Project. This letter serves as the response to the County's request.

As known, the City owns and operates the Crescent City Water System. The City's two water transmission mains are located underneath the Wonderstump roadbed and these mains serve as the only source of water into town. There is currently no alternative route for which water can be pumped to town. There are also multiple residential water service connections that run perpendicular to the road alignment from the main to private properties, as well as several distribution mains severing the crossroads. These services and distribution mains vary in depth and can be quite shallow especially near existing drainage ditches.

In regard to the potential Wonderstump drainage improvement project, the City has the following comments:

- In compliance with California Code of Regulations Article 4 Section 64572, a 4-foot minimum horizontal clearance and 1-foot vertical clearance is required between any parallel storm drain utility and the existing water mains.
- If trees are to be removed during a project, extra precaution should be taken to direct falling trees away from the water mains.

- To determine the exact location and depth, all water services and distribution mains should be potholed before construction. Should any mains or water services be damaged during construction, the contractor should contact the City immediately to repair the damaged water utility. All repair work will be done at the sole expense of the contractor.

As the City's infrastructure within the proposed project limits is critical to the Health and Safety of the community, we ask to review all plans and specifications, as well as to attend the pre-construction conference before the project commences.

If you have any questions regarding the concerns of the City, please feel free to contact me at 707-464-9506.

Sincerely,

Eric Wier

SUBJECT: Wonder Stump Road Project

The Fort Dick Fire Protection District has reviewed a number of issues that affect the operations of the Fire District in providing adequate fire protection to the property owners that are accessed along the section of Wonder Stump from Yonkers Bridge to Highway 101.

We also understand that there are a number of property owners who are concerned with any improvements that may be needed to be done along this road.

The main issue that effects the operation of the fire district is a lack of water supply that would be needed in cause of a fire in the area. This means that the fire district has to use water tenders to supply the water needed to provide an adequate fire protection.

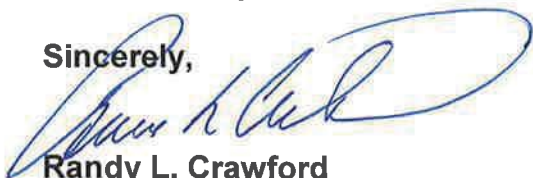

At present, there are two fire hydrants that are used by our water tenders to provide a water shuttle for fires. One fire hydrant is located at the north end of Wonder Stump near Highway 101 at the City water tower. The other fire hydrant is located 4611 Wonder Stump, which are approximately a mile apart.

The fire district also has a concern that in order to provide a proper water shuttle in case of a fire, or any other types emergencies along the road as it is now, doesn't provide adequate width for two fire apparatus or other emergency vehicles to be able to pass each other safely as may be needed. For example, there are a number of driveways along this road that if an emergency vehicle was parked on roadway, there is no way another emergency vehicle can pass if needed safely. This greatly affects the ability of the fire district to provide services as needed. This is also true if two water tenders who are providing water supply can't pass by each other as needed.

Taking these concerns in account, the fire district would highly recommend that any road improvements that would be made, to at least meet the minimum road standards as outlined in the State of California SRA Fire Safe Regulations.

We understand that Del Norte County has a lot of information they are in the process of developing for any future community meetings on this project. If you need any other information, please feel free to contact our office.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read "Randy L. Crawford", is written over the word "Sincerely,".

Rosanna,

Attached are the approximate location of Frontier overhead and underground facilities from US Hwy 101 to just past the Yonkers Bridge for informational purposes.

Exact locations may vary from our mapping and underground structures should be located using the 811 call for locates.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Project: Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

Re: 1st Stakeholder Meeting

Dear Mr. Spencer:

The County of Del Norte is working on the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement project. We would like to invite you or a representative of your utility/agency to a Stakeholder meeting on Wednesday, November 13, 2019 from 1:00 p.m. – 3:00 p.m. at the County Road Yard, 500 E. Cooper Ave., Crescent City, CA 95531. The Stakeholder group is primarily public agencies and utilities.

If your utility/agency has infrastructure within the project limits, please mail or email any mapping you have to me at: rbower@co.del-norte.ca.us or the address at the top of this page before the end of September. The project limits are on Wonder Stump Road from the Yonkers Bridge (41.825100,-124.151473) to Highway 101 (41.840005,-124.143901), a 75 foot wide swath. This will assist us with developing presentation materials for the Stakeholder meeting.

The goal of the Stakeholder meeting is to discuss and generate a list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Information gathered at the Stakeholder meeting will be incorporated into the 1st Community Meeting.

Sincerely,

Rosanna Bower
Assistant County Engineer

1st Community Meeting Handout

1st Community Meeting Handout
December 12, 2019

A. Why are we here?

The County is seeking community input on the pros, cons, concerns, and solutions for Wonder Stump Road from the Yonkers Creek Bridge to US Highway 101 as part of the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project.

B. What is the project?

The project is a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from the Yonkers Creek Bridge to Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road).

To clarify, the planning funds used on this project do not allow for environmental studies, right-of-way acquisition, design, or construction of a project.

C. What is the schedule?

1. Obtain Existing Conditions – Anticipated July/August 2019.
2. Develop Preliminary Conceptual Alternatives – Anticipated September/October 2019.
3. 1st Stakeholder Meeting – Develop Stakeholder generated list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Anticipated November/December 2019.
4. 1st Community Meeting – Develop Community generated list of concerns/solutions and pros/cons for preliminary conceptual alternatives. Anticipated November/December 2019.
5. Update conceptual alternatives and/or add additional alternatives based on Community and Stakeholder concerns/solutions and pros/cons.
6. 2nd Stakeholder Meeting – Review Community and Stakeholder engagement to date. Receive final comments before Draft Summary of Engagement is prepared for release. February/March 2020
7. 2nd Community Meeting – Review Community and Stakeholder engagement to date. Receive final comments before Draft Summary of Engagement is prepared for release. February/March 2020
8. Draft Summary of Engagement – The Summary of Engagement will include feedback on conceptual alternatives including pros/cons and problem/solutions. All comments received on the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project will be included in the document. Release anticipated in April/May 2020.
9. Adopt Summary of Engagement – Anticipate Board of Supervisors adoption in May/June 2020.

Project: Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement

Re: 2nd Letter to the Community

Dear Community Member:

The County is unable to hold a 2nd Community and Stakeholder Meeting as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Instead, a Preliminary Draft of the Wonder Stump Road Community and Stakeholder Engagement Project is being released to the public.

The Preliminary Draft is available at the following website: <http://www.co.del-norte.ca.us/departments/community-development-department/engineering-division/community-input>. Due to the size of the document, over 250 pages, paper copies printed by the County require a fee of $25 and are printed upon receipt of payment. Alternatively, local printing businesses could print the document using the web address above.

In addition to commenting on the Preliminary Draft we would like to emphasize a request for any articles you are aware of within the time period of July 1, 2019 to present that are not included in Appendix 9 and a complete copy of the <http://www.change.org> petition for inclusion in the public record as Appendix 10.

Comments and submissions are due by Friday, May 22, 2020 and can be submitted via email to wonderstumproad@co.del-norte.ca.us or mailed to the address at the top of this letter.

Sincerely,

Heidi Kunstal
Director

Objective

Perform a planning level document compiling community and stakeholder input on potential improvements to Wonder Stump Road from Yonkers Bridge to US Highway 101 (the less than two-lane portion of Wonder Stump Road). Wonder Stump Road is a major collector that has historically received substantial public input when the slightest hint of a potential modification to the tree canopy or roots have occurred. County maintenance crews are unable to continue using mechanized equipment to maintain existing ditches as a result of cumulative tree and root growth. It is no longer feasible to safely perform maintenance activities while allowing traffic to navigate the work zone. Traffic, including emergency services and school buses, continues to be subjected to an oversized one-lane road serving two-way traffic. Trees along the paved surface and on the shoulders have scars from being hit. In an effort to obtain stakeholder and community input, a website will be established and stakeholder and community meetings will be held. The summary of engagement will compile community and stakeholder feedback to assist with the development and implementation of potential improvements.

Product 1 Engagement: Wonder Stump Road

Baseline corridor data will be collected, conceptual plans will be drawn, stakeholder input will be sought, conceptual plans may be updated, community input will be sought, and a summary of engagement will be created.

Task/Activity	Products	Schedule
1 Project kick off and schedule review.	Agenda	July
2 County will gather data to support the development of conceptual plans.	Plans	August - October
3 County will conduct Stakeholder Engagement. Conduct at least 1 meeting to determine priorities; invitees include: County, Caltrans, school district, law enforcement, emergency responders, and utilities.	Compile Stakeholder Input	November - December
2 County will update conceptual plans after considering stakeholder needs.	Updated Plans	December - January
4 County will conduct Community Engagement. Conduct at least 2 public meetings with substantial advertising and noticing. Establish a website to accept community input.	Compile Public Input	January - March
5 County will prepare a document compiling feedback on conceptual plans.	Final Document	April - May

WHEREAS, the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission in its official capacity as the designated Regional Transportation Planning Agency, hereafter referred to as the RTPA, is responsible for the planning, allocating and programming of funds; and

WHEREAS, the 2019-20 Overall Work Program (OWP) is the primary management tool for the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission, identifies the activities and a schedule of work for regional transportation planning in Del Norte County, and is a requirement of the Memorandum of Understanding between Del Norte Local Transportation Commission and the California Department of Transportation; and

WHEREAS, the Del Norte Local Transportation Commission adopted the 2019-20 OWP at the May 7 2019 meeting; and

WHEREAS, the Regional Planning Assistance discretionary grant and 2018-19 reconciliation amount was confirmed by the State; and

WHEREAS, the work element, expenditure detail an revenue summary are attached to this resolution; and

WHEREAS, Amendment #1 of the 2019-20 OWP makes the following changes:

Work Element:	Purpose of change:	Action taken:
A 1	Adds funding	Adds funding to accommodate for the additional work required for the California Transportation Commission Town Hall meeting and the Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy.
A 2	Reduces funding	Reduces funding in the staff services area. Caltrans will provide the public information.
A 3	Adds funding	Adds funding for CSU Chico, Center for Economic Development to include the Economic and Demographic Profile. This was purposefully reserved to receive reconciliation funding.
G 1	Adds funding	Adds $3,000 funding to staff services within the limits of the staff services contract to accommodate the challenges related to contracting and the increase in current year work. Adds $10,814 to the consultant services area for a total of $30,814 in the current year.. The contract crosses fiscal years and the total contract amount is $71,005. The remaining will be funded in the 2020-21 work year.

I 1	Adds funding	Per the direction of DNLTC in the November meeting, adds $10,000 for County services
