South Beach Public Use Improvements and Unincorporated Community Markers

The only incorporated city in Del Norte County is the county's seat, Crescent City, however there are a handful of unincorporated communities within the County. Presently these unincorporated communities lack any sort of unifying theme or sense of place that reflects their location with Del Norte County. This concept aims to create a better sense of place for residents and visitors to the County and improve aesthetics of unincorporated communities by soliciting stakeholder input and developing a unifying theme for the County's unincorporated communities leading to the construction and placement of thematic markers (i.e. signs) at the entrances to each community containing the name of the community and the County's official seal. Other unifying elements may also be included as determined by the public and the Board of Supervisors.
